

LENIENCY PERIOD FOR SLACKERS ENDS

Officials to Prosecute, Men of Draft Age Who Failed to Register

RULES NEARLY COMPLETE

Regulations Governing Exemptions Will Be Laid Before Baker in a Few Days

ILLINOIS' REGISTRATION

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The period of leniency ended tonight for men between the ages of 21 and 30 inclusive who failed to register for the war army last Tuesday.

Requests Governors to Act.

Provost Marshal General Crowder sent to the governors of all the states a message asking them "to inaugurate from tomorrow a vigorous, aggressive and effective enforcement of the penal clause of the selective service law against all who have by their failure to register brought themselves under those provisions."

The penalty for failure to register on June 5 is imprisonment for a year and enforced registration, but General Crowder, immediately after registration day, recommended that local registration boards provide further opportunity for delinquents.

The department of justice today notified United States attorneys to release those already arrested for failure to register providing they have now registered.

Nearly Completes Rules.

General Crowder had nearly completed a draft of regulations to govern exemptions and exemption boards, and expects to lay it before Secretary Baker in a few days for his approval.

Among states reporting so far, Ohio stands first in the proportion of registration to the census estimate with 113 per cent, Illinois has 104.7 per cent, Wisconsin 104.6 per cent, New Hampshire 102.9 per cent, North Carolina 102 per cent, Iowa 101.3 per cent and Connecticut 100.9 per cent. Washington is the lowest state with 50.9 per cent.

Illinois' Total 672,498.

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—Illinois contributed 672,498 names to the nationwide conscriptive draft registration, exceeding the census bureau's estimate for this state by 47,965, the official report forwarded to Provost Marshal Crowder today indicated.

The distribution was as follows: Whites 549,498 Colored 22,289 Aliens 95,145 Alien enemies 6,501 Possible exemptions, totalled: Whites 321,302 Colored 12,371 Amounting in all 333,673

The total white and colored registrants was 571,302. Subtracting the number claiming exemption from this figure there remain 237,629 who have not asked to be exempted from military service. The percentage of those asking to be exempted, excluding aliens and alien enemies not subject to draft, is approximately 58 per cent. In estimating that Illinois should furnish 642,533 registrations, the census bureau included 18,000 national guardsmen and enlisted army men. Adjutant General Dickson made this explanation in arriving at the excess registration for Illinois over the bureau's mark.

Richland county and one precinct in Chicago sent in their returns today completing the reports.

By order of the provost marshal general all registration in Illinois has ceased and federal and state authorities are bending every effort to bring to justice those who evaded the registration law on last Tuesday and who made no attempt to take advantage of the period of leniency extended by authority of President Wilson.

ENGLAND REPLIES TO RUSSIAN REQUEST

LONDON, June 11.—In reply to the Russian government's request for a statement of the British war aims Great Britain has forwarded to Petrograd a note in which it expressed hearty approval of the principles which President Wilson laid down in his historic message to congress. The British government believes, broadly speaking, that the agreements made from time to time with Britain's allies are conformable to the standards.

REPORT FIGHT WITH VILLA

El Paso, Texas, June 11.—Government agents received a report here tonight that an engagement between Villa forces and Mexican government troops had occurred at Mequi, fifty miles south of Chihuahua City. As Villa's main command has been advancing up the Conchos river since leaving Ojinaga, the Mequi engagement was believed to have been directed by Villa. No details of the encounter which occurred Saturday have been received at the border.

RESCUED MEN TELL TALES OF HEROISM

Efforts of Missing Youth Saves Twenty-five Miners

Two Men of a Group of Ten Reached by Rescuee, Die Soon Afterward. One of Them a Shift Boss To Whom the Eight Others Attribute Their Safety.

Butte, Mont., June 11.—Tales of heroism in the depth of Speculator mine were being told today by men rescued after being for two days and nights what appeared for a time to be certain death. Two men of a group of ten reached today by rescuers died soon afterward, one of them being J. B. Moore, shift boss, to whom the eight others attribute their safety. Moore died as he was being taken from the hoisting cage. These two deaths bring the total known dead to 65 with 72 men missing.

Moore led his comrades to a recess on the 2200 foot level where it was possible to erect a bulkhead against the deadly gas. Moore directed the work of bulkheading and testing the gas which finally sapped his strength. Toward the end his legs were paralyzed from gas, but while consciousness remained he directed the men and kept them from dying. If Manus Duggan, the youthful hero of the disaster, returns from the tomb of the dead he will find that since the accident he has become a father. At midnight on Friday, a few minutes after the fire broke out in the Granite Mountain shaft, friends telephoned to the timekeeper at the mine asking that Duggan be sent home. The time-keeper, still ignorant of the extent of the disaster, replied that he would send Duggan home at once. The baby was born Saturday as the young father was battling with 28 others against what seemed certain death. Every one of the 25 men saved thru the efforts of Duggan is praying for the safety of the 20 year old tool boy who has not been seen since his companions were rescued. It is believed Duggan perished while seeking to find a means of egress from the mine for his co-workers and himself.

Redoubt Rescue Efforts.

With hope rekindled by the finding of ten men alive in a crosscut 3,000 feet from the station on the 2200 foot level of the Speculator mine of the North Butte Mining company efforts of the army of rescue men exploring all accessible workings for those who may have escaped death from the poisonous gases incident to Friday night's fire in the Granite Mountain shaft have been redoubled. Every human agency is being employed to reach sections of the mine where there is the slightest possibility that havens of refuge were afforded by the erection of bulkheads. This meant miles of exploration thru gas affected areas where the lives of rescuers even equipped with the oxygen helmets are in jeopardy.

The dead will be removed later. A recapitulation of the facts to night stood as follows:

Bodies brought to surface—78, Identified—36, Unidentified—40, Rescued alive since Sunday—31, Unaccounted for and missing (including unidentified dead)—128.

At least twenty bodies could be sighted from the stations of the Speculator shaft.

Every physician in the village offered his services at the mine today.

PERSHING LUNCHESES WITH KING GEORGE

LONDON, June 11.—General Pershing and Ambassador Page spent nearly two hours at the king's palace today taking luncheon with King George. After luncheon the king and queen showed the visitors thru the historic rooms and about the palace grounds.

From the palace General Pershing went to the war office where members of his personal staff had been in conference for several hours with representatives of their corresponding departments in the British army. This evening General Pershing and several members of his staff dined at Mr. Page's residence. Tomorrow morning General Pershing and his staff will visit a huge training camp. In the afternoon they will take luncheon with the Earl of Derby, secretary of state for war and in the evening they will be the guests of premier Lloyd-George at Lancaster House.

WILSON SENDS MESSAGE SALVADOREAN EXECUTIVE

WASHINGTON, June 11.—President Wilson has sent the following telegram to the president of San Salvador:

"I wish to extend to you my heartfelt sympathy in the terrible disaster that has overtaken San Salvador and to express, in my name and that of the American people an earnest desire to render every possible aid and assistance to your country in its distress and to the sufferers from this calamity."

DENIES CLUB WAS CONSULTED

Philadelphia, June 11.—Testifying in the $900,000 suit of the Baltimore Federal League club against organized baseball growing out of the peace agreement of December, 1915, whereby the Federal League went out of existence L. Edwin Goldman, a director of the Baltimore club, said his club knew nothing about negotiations to put the league out of business until the peace agreement had been reached. He emphasized his denial that the Baltimore Club was consulted in the negotiations.

ENGLAND DECLINES TO CANCEL PASSPORTS

LONDON, June 11.—The government has declined to cancel the passports of James Ramsey McDonald and Frederick W. Jowett, who have been prevented from sailing for Petrograd to meet Russian Socialists by the National Seamen's and Firemen's Union. The government explained that they were issued in response to the request of the Russian government upon the advice of Arthur Henderson, member of the war council and representative of labor who is now in Russia and the British ambassador, Sir George Buchanan.

ILLINOIS RAILROADS RAISE PASSENGER FARES

Order Applies to Intra and Interstate Traffic

Rate Effective Immediately—Railroad Men Say Order is in Compliance with Order of Federal Judge Dyer of U. S. Circuit Court at St. Louis.

Chicago, June 11.—Every railroad in Illinois ordered its agents to sell tickets beginning today at a rate of 2.4 cents a mile. The order which was sent to every agent today and applies to intra and interstate traffic was made immediately effective. Twenty-nine railroads operate within the state.

Not Defying State Courts.

Representatives of the railroads said the order was not in defiance of recent state court decisions regarding the state two cent law, but was in compliance with an order issued last Friday by Federal Judge Dyer of the United States circuit court at St. Louis, which empowered railroads to increase their passenger fares on or before June 12. The two cent passenger rate has been effective in this state since July 1, 1907. The rate of 2.4 cents a mile for interstate passenger traffic in Illinois and neighboring states was fixed by the interstate commerce commission in Dec. 1915. In the following March business men complained that the Illinois rate was discriminatory.

The question came before Federal Judge Landis of Chicago last January and he refused to enjoin the railroads. Last month Judge Hook and Dyer of the federal court ordered the railroads to abolish the alleged discrimination by putting in a rate of 2.4 cents a mile. Toward the end of the month the railroads filed their tariffs in accordance with this decision but the state utilities commission refused to accept the notice of advance in passenger rates. Two days later Judge Foell of the superior court of Cook county enjoined the roads operating in the state from putting into effect the 2.4 cents a mile tariff. Last Friday came the decision of Federal Judge Dyer empowering the roads to advance passenger fares.

Issued Before Decision.

Railroad men said tonight the order for increasing passenger rates on the 29 lines operating in the state was decided upon and issued to agents before the decision in Washington in the South Dakota rate case was known. They said the order to agents was in conformity to court decisions and not in defiance of the state courts or utilities board. The decision of the United States supreme court was, however, received with expressions of satisfaction. The decision in the South Dakota express rate case they said, abrogating state rates in conflict with those fixed by the interstate commerce commission was a death blow to the two cent fare laws of the states. The states affected by the Washington decision today are Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.

ROOT DUE IN RUSSIAN CAPITAL THIS EVENING

PETROGRAD, June 11.—Via London, June 12.—The special train which is bringing Elihu Root and American commissioners to Petrograd is due tomorrow evening. Representatives of the Russian government and the entire staff of the American embassy will meet the commission at the station. The commission will be conducted immediately to quarters arranged for them in the winter palace, which will be thrown open for the first time since the revolutionary flag replaced the insignia of the old empire.

The commissioners were met at Perm last night by Baron Lamzal representing the Russian war office and Basil Miles, special representative of the state department at Petrograd. The arrival in Petrograd of the Americans will be in the nature of a surprise as the journey of the commission has been conducted with such secrecy that the press and public have not yet been informed that they have left Vladivostok.

APPROVE CHANGES IN INCOME TAX SECTION

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Radical changes in the income tax section of the house war tax bill previously agreed to tentatively were finally approved today by the senate finance committee. The retroactive tax on 1916 incomes, designed to raise $108,000,000 and the so-called Lennox amendments increasing surtaxes on incomes of more than $40,000 to bring in about $66,000,000 were stricken out. The committee spent the entire day on the income section and at journey's end a poll by Senators Penrose and Lodge for further reduction of surtaxes on incomes over $40,000 was pending.

PROTESTS AGAINST ADVERTISING TAX

Representative of Inland Daily Press Association Makes Statement

APPEALS TO COMMITTEES

Says Newspapers Constitute a Valuable Arm of Defense and Shouldn't Be Weakened

SHOULD AMEND BILL

WASHINGTON, June 11.—A protest against the two per cent special advertising tax tentatively written into the war tax bill by the senate finance committee was made today in a statement by Urey Woodson of Kentucky, representing the Inland Daily Press Association comprising newspapers published in cities of 10,000 to 50,000 in central western states. The committee is "considering its decision to substitute the flat advertising tax for the zone system increases in second class mail rates of the bill as it passed the house."

Mr. Woodson's Statement.

Mr. Woodson's statement follows: "We have learned with deepest concern of proposals to put upon the newspapers a tax which would be almost destructive of our property in view of the recent increases in the cost of news print paper amounting to 100 per cent or more to many publishers. We are here to earnestly appeal to the committees of congress not to put this crippling burden upon our business. The proposed tax on advertising receipts would be atax upon gross sales. Advertising space is the only commodity that a newspaper has for sale, receipts from circulation being as is well known, more than absorbed by the cost of materials alone. Even if the newspaper business could bear this burden we are unable to see why this business should be taxed on its gross sales unless the tax is equitably distributed by a single levy on all other business."

"It is very well known that in times of business depression the merchant's first thought of economy is to cut down his advertising. He cannot get his rent reduced, nor can he discharge his clerks. When business is dull the merchant feels he must discontinue his advertising. Why should advertising, the greatest promoter of business in all times, be thus penalized? The press of the country could not submit to this dangerous precedent without the most earnest protest. If a tax of two per cent should be placed upon our gross advertising now, why not four per cent or even ten per cent a year now, when the country's war obligations may be quadrupled."

Rate Paid Sufficient.

"So far as the proposed increase in second class postal rates is concerned, we know that the rate paid by the newspaper business is sufficient inasmuch as the express companies render a similar service at a profit at one half rate paid by the newspapers to the government for transportation. I wish to call attention to the fact which does not seem to be fully understood, that the newspapers are now paying one cent a pound on all mail circulation within their counties of publication from all postoffices having city carrier service which includes rural routes and stor routes as well as for transportation beyond the county limits."

"Newspaper publishers emphatically subscribe themselves as not only willing but anxious to bear their just and full share of the burden of war financing. They do not believe they should bear an unjust burden or that the life of their business should be threatened as it now is and has been for many months by the unparalleled combination of the paper mills and with this proposed congressional action as a final blow which the weaker ones cannot stand."

Valuable Arm of Defense.

"We believe that the newspapers constitute a very valuable arm of the national defense at this time and that purely from a government standpoint that arm should not be weakened by the imposition of any special tax not levied against the business of the country."

"If this war situation and this proposed legislation had arisen a year ago, when we were paying only two cents a pound on an average for newspaper paper, we would not have been here making such a protest, but now that every paper in the land is paying from 50 per cent to 150 per cent more for paper than a year ago and as much as 300 per cent more for some of the other materials entering into the publishing business our very existence is threatened."

"Even the smallest country weeklies, which are paying from 6 to 8 cents a pound for their paper, would be caught by the senate committee's bill proposing a 2 per cent tax on gross advertising. The house bill adds nothing to the postage in the county of publication and it should at least be amended so as to except the first and second zones."

STATES U. S. MUST PUT MILLIONS IN WAR

PITTSBURGH, June 11.—William Howard Taft, speaking today at a general meeting of the National Conference of Charities and Corrections whose subject was "International adjustment after the war," declared that the United States would have to put billions of money and millions of men into the struggle. "This," he continued, "will give this country when the nations gather around the peace table, the right to say 'we demand a just peace and no peace can be a just peace unless it is a lasting peace.'"

THOUSANDS ATTEND BABY KEET'S FUNERAL

Grief for Stricken Parents Overcomes Lust for Revenge

Father and Mother Bear Up Bravely Thru the Ordeal—Issue Warrant Charging Dick Carter with Direct Complicity in Death of Baby.

Springfield, Mo., June 11.—Baby Lloyd Keet, whose life was the toll exacted by abductors was buried here today.

Thousands of Springfield citizens were at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church where the services were held and in the cortege that followed the little white casket to the cemetery. Grief for the stricken father and mother had overcome the lust for vengeance which manifested itself Saturday night and Sunday morning when ten thousand persons parading the streets demanded the lives of the six persons suspected of complicity in the crime.

Holland Keet, the father and his wife bore up bravely thru the ordeal of the afternoon. The baby's grandmother, Mrs. Kate Keet, was unable to attend.

But the holding of the funeral did not stop police and county authorities from continuing the search they are making for those who threw Little Lloyd into the old well in the deserted Crenshaw farm, eight miles southwest of here.

Arrests Issued on Warrant.

Paul O'Day, prosecuting attorney of this county, announced the issuance of the first warrant charging direct complicity in the death. It named Dick Carter, 26 years old, a Springfield man who was alleged to have suffocated Lloyd by wrapping blankets around the baby's head.

The warrant was issued late Saturday night at the time the mob was demanding the lives of the six suspects charged with conspiracy in the alleged abduction plots.

Private detectives, federal agents and the police of more than 100 cities have been asked to aid in capturing Carter. Four of the six suspects whom a mob surrounded at Stockton, Mo., early yesterday and threatened with death still were in jail at the little Cedar county town.

Question Piersol and Adams.

Two others, C. J. Piersol and Cleus Adams, were in jail at Kansas City, Mo., and were subjected to lengthy questioning by Judge Arch A. Johnson of the Greene county court.

The departure of federal agents from here to Kansas City was thought possibly to foreshadow developments in the case there. Little yet has come to the surface to show the reason for the activities of the federal agents except the allegations that Piersol and others of the prisoners had discussed the abduction of a St. Louis munitions maker as part of a German plot to thwart traffic in war materials to the allies.

WILL COMPLETE RATE CASE HEARING TODAY

WASHINGTON, June 11.—With presentation of arguments by Western Carriers and shippers, the interstate commerce commission will complete its hearing tomorrow on the application of the railroads for a fifteen per cent increase in freight rates. The cases of the southern railroads and shippers were submitted today, with five hours of final argument by counsel R. Walter Moore, chief counsel for the southern roads who said the roads are facing an emergency due to increased wages under the Adamson eight hour day law and to tremendously advanced prices of supplies.

Special shipping interests whose cases against increases were presented included hardwood producers, soft drink manufacturers, brickmakers, natural ice harvesters and livestock and wool producers.

Washington, June 11.—The number of German, Austro-Hungarian, Bulgarian and Turkish subjects in the United States is placed at 4,662,000 including about 964,000 males over 21, in a census bureau report made public tonight. The Germans are estimated at 2,349,000; the Austrians at 1,376,000, the Turks at 188,000 and the Bulgarians at 11,600.

LETTERS REVEAL NAVAL ORDNANCE SECRETS

Government Agents Search for Writer of Letters

Secretary Daniels Places Them Before Senate Committee, Declaring That Either a "Spy or a Traitor" Had Been at Work—Insists Writer Should Be Found.

Washington, June 11.—Investigation by the senate naval committee of accidents on armored merchantmen was interrupted today to await the outcome of a search by government agents for the writer of letters mailed from Detroit to Senator Frelinghausen, revealing naval ordnance secrets.

Insists Writer Should Be Found.

Secretary Daniels, placing the letters before the committee declared that either a "spy or a traitor" had been at work, because the information disclosed could have been obtained nowhere except from the confidential files of the navy's ordnance bureau. He insisted the writer should be found and required to explain. The committee adjourned until Wednesday by which time it is hoped to locate the author of the letters. Senator Frelinghausen told the committee he had no desire to shield anyone and had sought unsuccessfully to discover the identity of his correspondent.

Tonight he gave out a statement defending the letter writer, saying his object was the welfare of the country and to prevent further accidents and declaring that Mr. Daniels use of the words "spy" and "traitor" was remarkable.

Give Detailed Information.

During the hearing today Rear Admiral Earle, chief of the ordnance bureau and Captains Twining and Strauss gave the committee detailed and material information concerning the accident on the Mongolia and other vessels the chief facts concerning which have been published previously in official reports. They explained the discarding of the brass powder cup of the type that killed two red cross nurses on the Mongolia and of the withdrawal of shells of the kind which exploded prematurely when fired by the naval gun crews.

WILL CONVOKE IRISH CONVENTION TODAY

Meeting Will Be Purely an Irish Assemblage—Will Attempt to Solve Irish Problem.

London, June 11.—The convention to be convoked by the government in an attempt to solve the Irish problem will be composed of 101 members representing every walk of life in Ireland and will be presided over by a chairman of its own selection or failing that, by a man chosen by the government.

The convention will be purely an Irish assemblage. The county borough and urban district councils will select their own representatives. The churches will be represented by their bishops—in the case of the Presbyterians by their moderator, while the chambers of commerce of Dublin, Belfast and Cork will name their own delegates as will each political party. In announcing the composition of the convention Premier Lloyd George said the government had thought to make it representative of every day life of Ireland, this plan including an invitation to the county councils and to each of the borough councils to send its chairman.

The fifteen members to be nominated by the government, said the premier, would be taken from among leading Irishmen of all sections.

SETTLEMENT MAY BE REACHED TODAY

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Settlement of the congressional controversy over the proposed purchase of the old Jamestown Exposition site for a naval base and training station which is holding up the $3,281,000,000 war budget bill probably will be reached tomorrow. While the senate was instructing its conferees to insist upon the Jamestown provision the house naval committee held an extended executive session with Secretary Daniels and virtually agreed to report as an amendment to the budget a proposal to give the secretary of the navy the right to acquire on Chesapeake Bay a site for a naval base not to cost in excess of $1,400,000, the price to be fixed by the president, if he deems it necessary.

Baker of Mattoon, Ill., was shot and killed and a fellow farm hand was wounded when Howard Jackson, owner of the farm adjoining the place where Baker and his companion worked, opened fire on them with an automatic pistol this afternoon. Jackson surrendered to the police.

WILL INSIST ON FOOD LEGISLATION

Wilson Agrees With Labor Men that Early Enactment Is Essential

LEADERS SEE PRESIDENT

Delegation Asks Executive To Go Before Congress To Urge Action On Bills

REPORT SECOND BILL

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Early enactment of food legislation will be insisted on by the administration. It was made clear today after a delegation of labor leaders and congressmen called on President Wilson to ask that he go before congress to urge action on the administration bills.

Gompers Heads Delegation.

Samuel Gompers, who headed the labor delegation, said afterward that the president was in full accord with the opinion of labor leaders that food control is essential at the earliest possible moment. The first food bill, designed to stimulate production, has passed both houses, but is held up in conference. Today the second or regulatory bill was reported by the house agriculture committee after the provision giving the president power to fix maximum prices had been eliminated. The administration, it is understood, believes the purpose of this clause can be accomplished under the hoarding clause. The minimum price feature for farm products was retained. The regulatory bill as reported makes the president food dictator with power to authorize some agency to carry out the provisions of the law. The intention is to create a food administration with Herbert C. Hoover at its head. The measure would permit government operation if necessary of food producing plants, storage houses and coal mines. The government could purchase and distribute food supplies, if it became necessary.

Would Make Separate Issue.

The house committee left in a provision authorizing the president to limit or prohibit use of foodstuffs in the manufacture of alcoholic liquors. It during the day the senate agriculture committee voted to make prohibition a separate issue and to confine into a new measure the many prohibition amendments to the senate food bills.

The senate judiciary committee meanwhile reported favorably a resolution by Senator Shepard for a national prohibition constitutional amendment.

The labor leaders told the president that wages have been virtually stationary for several years while food costs had steadily mounted and that legislation is necessary to meet the situation. The working man, they declared, is underfed and continuance of this condition much longer is sure to lead to discontent and injury. If expected to serve in military and industrial capacities it was said the workers must in turn be given an opportunity to live.

Must Be Done Before July 1.

Mr. Gompers expressed the belief that if the legislation was not enacted before July 1, it would be too late.

By that time, he said, the crops would be on the move or at least contracted for and the United States must find itself in a position similar to that of England when she first began to cope with the food problem.

MARTIN OPENS FIGHT FOR NAVAL BASE

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Senator Martin, Democratic leader, declared in the senate today that naval recruits were being sent back to their homes because the government has no mobilization grounds and that sick men have died because they could not properly be quarantined.

Senator Martin made his statement in opening the fight for the $3,000,000 appropriation for a naval base at the old Jamestown Exposition site, stricken from the war budget by the house. The war budget was returned to the house for reconsideration. The conferees were again unable to agree on the naval base item and the house will again vote on it.

D. O. K. K. TAKES PATRIOTIC ACTION.

The Imperial D. O. K. K. palace has recommended that the bi-ennial convocation be abandoned this year and the money which would be spent at that gathering be devoted to purchasing ambulance equipment to aid our soldiers in Europe. This action is of a patriotic kind that requires sacrifice. It would be very pleasing to hundreds of delegates through the U. S. to attend the convocation which was scheduled for Chattanooga, and members of various D. O. K. K. work teams would have enjoyed that gathering. Now it is planned to devote the $10,000 which would have been spent at the convocation for equipment which is known to be needed by American soldiers on foreign soil.

Gradually and surely American people are awakening to the seriousness of the situation—are understanding that sacrifices must be made, and they are showing that they are ready to make those sacrifices. The D. O. K. K. action is commendable and patriotic and will doubtless inspire other individuals and organizations to like commendable plans.

FACING THE FACTS.

In a very impressive address Rev. Percy H. Epler at the vesper service of Illinois college Sunday told what the Red Cross society has done in the present war and what it will be called upon to do for American soldiery. Mr. Epler, who has for years been deeply interested in Red Cross work—an interest intensified by his investigation when he was preparing his "Life of Clara Barton"—brought first hand information about war conditions. He quoted the words of individuals known to him and the interviews of men high in official life who have been eye witnesses to tragic events of the European war.

It was a gloomy picture that the speaker painted. There was something depressing about the address but it was the kind of depression that made the auditors want to do something to aid in the great work of relief. The Red Cross as Mr. Epler put it, must be "the little mother" to the soldiers, and the American lads who go to the front and who will thus be located more than 3,000 miles from home, will have even greater need of mothering care than is true of the soldiers of England and France.

Yes, it was a distressing picture that Mr. Epler painted, but it was not his intention to entertain. It was not his purpose to speak grandiloquently of war conditions. He did just what he intended to do—made his audience feel that the need is great and that each one of them should have some part in relieving that need. As one man in the audience put it Sunday, "I believe if there had been an appeal to join the Red Cross following Mr. Epler's address that every one in that large audience would quickly have signified a desire to join, and their interest would not have ended with this mere act."

1776! 1812! 1861!

There is an editorial in the July Woman's Home Companion which says:

"It would be a good thing to read some of Washington's letters on July Fourth, and see the way his great heart was made to bleed by the utter failure of support either from the army or from the people for which he fought.

"To be sure, 395,000 men enlisted for service in the American Revolution at one time or another, to fight an English force that was never more than one third as large.

"But they fought for a few weeks, and became tired and went home. They were ill clothed, ill fed, ill supplied with ammunition.

"And of that 395,000 Washington was almost never able to muster more than twenty thousand for effective service at one time; and the capture of Trenton was made with only four thousand.

"Time after time he prepared for operations which might have won decisive victories and shortened the war. And he could not carry them out, because the people who ought to have stood behind him did not prepare for a hard-fought, long-continued war, and could not give him support.

"Seven chapters in all history are more depressing than the story of the war of 1812. Not one single important battle was won by the American forces on land.

"At Bladensburg the American militia, behind breastworks, fled at the first volley from a little force of British regulars, not one third their number. And the British marched across the bridge and burned the capitol.

"We are coming, Father Abraham," sang the men of 1861; but Lincoln waiting day after day in Washington, cried out in agony of heart, 'My God, will they never come?'

"And when they did come, it was to march to ignominious defeat at Bull Run.

"They were untrained boys, who had enlisted for ninety days. The war was to be quickly over; no one thought it would be a long war. And because no one thought it would last long, it dragged itself out for four years, when it ought to have been fought thru in two."

STATE COUNCIL OF DEFENSE ISSUES JULY 4TH STATEMENT.

To make the celebration of the Fourth of July the biggest demonstration of patriotism Illinois has ever seen, is to be the effort of the State Council of Defense for the next three weeks, according to a statement just issued. What is aimed at is not a noisy Fourth, nor a Fourth devoted to sports and clamorous crowds bent upon enjoyment, but a day devoted to the serious consideration of the underlying principles of Americanism and to the purposes and aims of our people as a nation. Already the "Sane Fourth" has been achieved, and it is not intended that there shall be a return to the old, rosy days of cannons, guns and fireworks. Instead it is hoped that services in every church in the State, the reading of the Declaration of Independence and Lincoln's Gettysburg address, and speeches by men equipped to bring home to the people the fact that America is at war, will take the place of gun-powder and fireworks of past celebrations. It is hoped that enthusiastic citizens, instead of maiming themselves and starting fires with cannon crackers and torpedoes, will gather where the flag flies to learn how America became a nation, what are her traditions and history, why she is at war now and what are the duties and obligations of a citizen when his country is at war.

It is also the hope of the Council that the flag will be flown in every school district of the State, and that there will be a gathering in every City Park and on every village green.

To get such a celebration the Council has sought the aid of all the agencies of the State in touch with the people. It has appealed to the heads of all religious denominations of the State in behalf of universal church service appropriate to the day, to the editors throughout the State to help arouse the interest of their communities, to the Mayors of 400 cities and villages, to 1000 Commercial organizations, to the G. A. R., to the heads of fraternal, nationalistic and like bodies, and has issued an address to the public at large, and the Council urges every interest and every individual to strive earnestly and actively to make the day a notable one in State history.

It is not the intention of the Council to interfere with the arrangements for any local demonstration. It is simply devoting its energies and efforts to get celebrations of the spirit and character the members believe time and circumstances demand.

For celebrations in Chicago and the immediate suburbs arrangements will be made by the Citizens War Board, and co-operation with that body is asked of every religious, civic, fraternal, commercial, social and other organizations of the city.

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

ON THE FARM

The farmer gladly toils all day, producing things we need, and in the fall he'll thresh his hay, and sell his puting seed. The farmer's hogs are fine as silk, and they're acquiring lard; his cows are all producing milk, and butter by the yard. The farmer's hens are laying shells, with golden yolks inside, the farmer's steers are wearing bells, each with its glossy hide. The farmer asks a decent price for products of the earth; he doesn't think to charge us twice as much as they are worth. If we could to the farmer go, for things he has to sell, we wouldn't crumple in our woe, beneath H. C. of L. But speculators come between the farmer and the crowd, and so we pay the good long green and groan and swear aloud. I like to see the farmer get high prices when he can; he earns his coin in toil and sweat, he is an honest man. But 'twixt the farmer and the push, the speculator stands, a robber reaching for the cash with both his greedy hands. And though the land with plenty teems, there's famine all around; by speculators and their schemes our weary souls are ground.

GOVERNMENT WILL GO AFTER ALL SLACKERS

Stringent Order Given Out to Officers to Hunt Out Those Who Failed to Register

The following telegram from Governor F. O. Lowden was received yesterday by Sheriff Graff. This telegram was sent to the governor by the federal authorities with instructions to transmit to sheriffs of the several counties. It is very plain from this statement that the government will make a vigorous effort to learn the names of any men eligible for service who did not register Tuesday June 5. When they are found another chance will be given for registration and if advantage is not taken of this leniency then punishment is certain to follow. The telegram is given herewith:

Quotas are to be assigned to the several states in proportion to their population as determined by the bureau of the census and not in proportion of the registration. The result is that every person who has failed to register is seriously increasing the burden of those who have registered.

Ample notice and every opportunity has now been given and there is no longer any argument upon which the conduct of non registrants can be condoned. The period of leniency referred to in N. Y. No. 500 has now passed. Attention is invited to paragraph 16 of the regulations. It is requested that every effort be now made to detect and arrest persons subject to registration who have not registered and to bring each case promptly to the attention of the nearest representative of the department of justice.

Wide publicity should be given to the effects of non registration in increasing the burden of those who have registered. Care should be taken that the lists prescribed in paragraph 39 are promptly posted and all registrants should be asked to assist in bringing non registrants to the attention of the police.

Summarization reports of registration from the various boards should be compared with estimates of census bureau and effort should be concentrated on those districts where discrepancies between registration and estimates seem greatest. In case of doubt as to age of persons who have not registered the tabulated record of political organizations and other local records should be consulted and data may be obtained from the bureau of the census.

The purpose of this telegram is to inaugurate a vigorous, aggressive, and effective enforcement of the penal clauses of the selective service law against all who have by their failure or refusal to register brought themselves under these provisions. The department of justice is sending today similar advices to U. S. attorneys and marshals with instructions to release on their own recognizances all persons arrested by marshals or deputy marshals or by state, county or municipal police officers and turned over to them, who promptly register under the terms of paragraph 40 registration regulations. The secretary of war construes section 5 of the selective service law as requiring compulsory registration by the officer making the arrest of each arrested person immediately upon his conviction. Please give notice to all who have any duty enjoined upon them in connection with the enforcement of the penal clauses of the law and particularly the state, county and municipal police named in paragraph 16 of the regulations."

Please convey these instructions to all local police in your county. Tell them plainly that the law obliges them to perform this duty and for failure to carry it out they are liable to prosecution by the U. S. marshal or the district attorney.

F. O. Lowden, Governor.

A few days ago Manager Johnson installed two young ladies as bell hops to replace young men. This system already has been inaugurated in a number of hotels throughout the country. Women also are replacing men in other work in anticipation of the dearth of male help on account of the war.

Miss Ellen Lawson and Miss Martha Hostetter are the young ladies who are filling the position at the Douglas. Manager Johnson said yesterday that he was well pleased with the manner in which they took hold of the work and anticipates much better service and satisfaction than was given by young men or boys.

FORTY YEARS' SUCCESS For a business to be successful for forty years means a great deal. Among other things, it means remarkable excellence in the products it sells. No inferior article can be sold on a large scale for so many years; and it must not only be good at the outset, but so good that the progress of forty years shall not develop any better article to supersede it.

So women can, with confidence, depend upon that old, tried and tested remedy for women's ailments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, still as popular as ever, that it was placed on the market before the centennial year, 1876.—Adv.

STUDENTS AT ROUIT COLLEGE CLOSE YEAR

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES FOR 1917 HELD MONDAY NIGHT

Eleven Members in Class Receiving Recognition of Work Done—Hon. A. R. Hoffman of Cincinnati Heard in Fine Address—Father Formaz in Words To Graduates Told of Growth of College and Compared Work with Other Institutions.

An interested audience that packed every available space in the assembly hall of Rouit college Monday evening enjoyed the 12th annual commencement of the institution. The stage was handsomely decorated with flowers and an abundance of flags and national colors. Awards were made as follows:

Diplomas—Grace Eaton Alexander, Teresa Valentine Boylan, Marcell Hector Derdeyn, William Stephen Ehnie, Louise Bernice Geobert, Margaret Genevieve Herberster, Bernard A. Sheehan.

Certificates in the School of Accounting—Margaret Agnes Keating, Anna Elizabeth Sloan, Catharine Veronica Sweeney.

Bachelor of Arts—Florence Harriet Longman.

The singing of the glee club was excellent and elicited much praise. Father Formaz presided and the program was carried out with great success. The first number was a song, "Come Out to the Soft May Morn", (Brown), and then followed a fine oration on "Growth of Old Illinois", by Bernard A. Sheehan who paid a glowing tribute to the hero of the Prairie state who won such imperishable fame in fighting the battles that saved his country.

The Angelus, Chamade, was then sung by the glee club after which Miss Grace Eaton Alexander delivered a fine oration on "Folk Lore." The young lady's effort showed much research as well as fine originality. Her delivery was good and her production received warm commendation from all who heard it. Next came a song, "Drink to Me with Thine Eyes", and then came the principal address of the evening by Hon. Albert A. Hoffman of Cincinnati. The speaker was to be commended for his fine voice, excellent delivery, vigor of expression and earnestness in his theme and also for knowing when to stop not speaking more than twenty minutes. Of his remarks a short outline is given:

An Early Patriot. I am indeed pleased to be here and renew old acquaintances for I feel I am no stranger to the place. I came also from the city where the late Reuben Springer lived and whose name is so revered here.

"It was a memorable day, July 4, 1826. John Adams and Thomas Jefferson had recently passed away and but one signer of the immortal declaration of independence, Charles Carroll of Carrollton, was left and all vied with each other in paying tribute of honor and respect to the aged hero. In the city of New York they had a facsimile of the declaration of independence engraved leaving blank the name of Mr. Carroll and taking it to Baltimore they requested him to sign it and it is treasured as one of the priceless possessions of the great city.

"The old gentleman, then nearing ninety years said, 'I am grateful for having been permitted to live so long under this flag and I recommend to future generations the principles embodied in that immortal document, and pray it may extend to all time.'

Church Has Done It's Share. "A man asked me not long ago if the Roman Catholic church stood for progress and liberty. I really felt irritated at being asked such a question when the record of the church in that respect is so well known. I did not tell him of Stephen Langton, educated in Rome, who inspired the barons to arise in their might and demand of King John the never to be forgotten Magna Charta, that safeguard of liberty and human rights; which provides for a trial by jury and forbids taking of a man's property or liberty without due process of law. I did not tell him of Joan of Arc, who was inspired to lead the armies of France to glorious victory. I did not tell him of John Sobieski, the Polish king and of many others but I did tell him of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, the signer of the declaration of independence. The signing of that declaration meant treason in England if the signers were subdued, and their execution. Thus did Charles Carroll render great service to his country.

"Throughout all ages Catholics have had a great part in patriotic services. The supreme council of the Knights of Columbus are now considering investing half a million in conjunction with the army Y. M. C. A. to carry benefits of all kind to the soldiers serving their country. It is a fact that 45 per cent of our army are Roman Catholics.

Keep Fires of Patriotism Burning. To the young graduates I would say: We look to you to keep the fires of patriotism burning. Those who have been educated here are able to render great service to the land. You have been taught restraint and discipline and all thru your lives you will find this most valuable, worth indeed more than all the lessons you have learned from books. I commend to you the words of a great man who said, 'Live well, laugh often, love much, cultivate the affection of children, be ready to see beauty and good in others and so live that your life will be an inspiration and your death a memory.'

Father Formaz then said he would offer his financial report which had cost him toil and sweat, some of it too on Sunday, but it had to be done and he would read it. He gave a detailed account of the income and expense of the college showing it was living within its income and had a balance in the bank. Briefly the receipts for the year had been $32,262.28 and income from all sources was $47,533.75 and expenses less by a considerable sum. The total invested assets of the plant were $264,421.72 and the total value of assets and buildings was $331,212.72. He then proceeded to say in brief:

"Rouit college is not given to self advertising. We do not print our baccalaureate sermons nor do we ask any favors but go on the even tenor of our way. Yet we do far better work than many other institutions of which I know. Other institutions have a wider field in which to work; they gather from all parts of the country while we are restricted to our own vicinity. And yet with all our limitations we are today where other institutions in the place 65 to 85 years are. Where shall we be when we are that old? We are on our feet and doing better work than any other institution in this place and I challenge a successful denial of the statement.

Asks More Loyal Support. "You may put out students alongside those of any college in the place or any other and they will hold their own. Yet there are even Catholics who do not regard our college quite the equal of the others. They will tell you our education will do as far as the high school but then if we want the best for our young people we must go elsewhere. Of course they say this on the quiet but they say it just the same. I tell you those people are playing with fire. Then we have those who stand loyally by the college and school and patronize them right along. I am satisfied that any teacher in our force could get better wages somewhere else but they stay here for the love of the work. They sent their children to Rouit college when it was but an insignificant school and we are proud of their loyalty. They are the kind of people we want. We want those who will stand up for their faith not only in the presence of Catholics but with Presbyterians and Methodists.

"Some time ago we opened an accounting department for the benefit of those who needed that kind of training but were not able to go ahead and take the whole four years college course. Tonight we have the first graduates from that department.

Poor Man's Institution. "This college is practically a poor man's institution. We do not want it filled with aristocrats but with grateful poor, who appreciate what is done for them. If a student unable to pay anything comes to us for an education he is not turned away. The intellectual and religious training the student gets here will well fit him for the duties of life. We do not put on any idiotic frills and fancy expenditures but we do pay for good food for the poor student who wants a start in life.

"Every student we have had goes out with words of praise. They talk of the college as they talk of the two hospitals on this street. We cared for you over there? Why Miss So and So who is to be married soon. Every teacher does five times the work really required of him. The students get the best and if true to their teachings here they will come out victorious."

"The Star Spangled Banner," sung with a star by the vast audience ended the exercises.

ATTENTION SIGMA PI. All loyal Sigas are urgently requested to attend the supper at the Dunlap house at 7 o'clock sharp, tonight.

212.72. He then proceeded to say in brief:

"Rouit college is not given to self advertising. We do not print our baccalaureate sermons nor do we ask any favors but go on the even tenor of our way. Yet we do far better work than many other institutions of which I know. Other institutions have a wider field in which to work; they gather from all parts of the country while we are restricted to our own vicinity. And yet with all our limitations we are today where other institutions in the place 65 to 85 years are. Where shall we be when we are that old? We are on our feet and doing better work than any other institution in this place and I challenge a successful denial of the statement.

Asks More Loyal Support. "You may put out students alongside those of any college in the place or any other and they will hold their own. Yet there are even Catholics who do not regard our college quite the equal of the others. They will tell you our education will do as far as the high school but then if we want the best for our young people we must go elsewhere. Of course they say this on the quiet but they say it just the same. I tell you those people are playing with fire. Then we have those who stand loyally by the college and school and patronize them right along. I am satisfied that any teacher in our force could get better wages somewhere else but they stay here for the love of the work. They sent their children to Rouit college when it was but an insignificant school and we are proud of their loyalty. They are the kind of people we want. We want those who will stand up for their faith not only in the presence of Catholics but with Presbyterians and Methodists.

"Some time ago we opened an accounting department for the benefit of those who needed that kind of training but were not able to go ahead and take the whole four years college course. Tonight we have the first graduates from that department.

Poor Man's Institution. "This college is practically a poor man's institution. We do not want it filled with aristocrats but with grateful poor, who appreciate what is done for them. If a student unable to pay anything comes to us for an education he is not turned away. The intellectual and religious training the student gets here will well fit him for the duties of life. We do not put on any idiotic frills and fancy expenditures but we do pay for good food for the poor student who wants a start in life.

"Every student we have had goes out with words of praise. They talk of the college as they talk of the two hospitals on this street. We cared for you over there? Why Miss So and So who is to be married soon. Every teacher does five times the work really required of him. The students get the best and if true to their teachings here they will come out victorious."

"The Star Spangled Banner," sung with a star by the vast audience ended the exercises.

ATTENTION SIGMA PI. All loyal Sigas are urgently requested to attend the supper at the Dunlap house at 7 o'clock sharp, tonight.

Rheumatism Should Be Nipped In The Bud

Rheumatism in its early stages may delude you into believing that it is a disease of a purely local and temporary nature. Beyond a slight numbness of the limbs and pains in the joints or back, there may be no outward indications of it, but if you do not heed these warnings, or if you rely upon liniments to cure you, it will grow rapidly worse until you have Rheumatism in its most violent form. These symptoms, mild in the beginning but growing steadily worse, indicate that your blood is impregnated with Uric Acid, which, if not eradicated, will contaminate your entire system. The results will be racking pains in the joints, muscles and limbs, chronic stomach troubles and a sluggish liver. The only relief is in the restoration of the blood to its normal, vigorous condition, which can be accomplished by taking S. S. S., the unfailing remedy for rheumatic troubles. WAR NEWS SUMMARIZED

While the cannon are roaring along the greater portion of the front in Belgium from the region of the North Sea to the French border, probably preliminary to infantry attacks by the French and Belgians, the British troops in the Messines region are giving the Germans no rest.

Field Marshal Haig's men continue here and there to dig further into the territory held by the Germans. Sunday night and Monday again witnessed thrusts by the British south and southeast of Messines, in both of which appreciable gains were made, especially in the neighborhood of Lapoterie farm.

Early Monday morning in this region a trench system over a front of about a mile was captured and later in the day was considerably enlarged bringing the British front to within a short distance of Warneton the capture of which would give them domination of the road leading eastward about three miles of the important town of Comines.

The day's operations added to the number of prisoners taken by the British and also gave them seven more German field guns.

Comparative quiet reigns on the front held by the French, except for artillery duels on various sectors, especially in the region of Mont Gamillet. The Berlin war office asserts that on the Chemin des Dames Sunday night the Germans in a surprise attack killed the occupants of French trenches and returned to their own lines later with prisoners.

On the Russian front quietude still prevails. In Macedonia artillery bombardments are still in progress at various points particularly in the Cerna Bend region.

What probably may be another intensive attack by the Italians has started in the region southeast of Trent where King Victor Emmanuel's men have captured several important positions notably the greater portion of Monte Ortigara which rises to a height of 6,924 feet and the Angello Pass from which there is comparatively level ground toward the town of Borgo and the Brenna river. There has been no renewal of the Italian offensive on the Carso plateau, where the objective of the Italians is Trieste. The Austrians several times attempted to take the initiative south of Castagna, but were repulsed. Following the example of the United States, Great Britain has replied to the Russian government for a statement on war aims. The reply concurs in Russia's purpose not to dominate other peoples or take from them their national patrimony or forcibly occupy foreign territory. The situation in China continues extremely tense. A mandate of dissolution of parliament has been drawn up by the president as demanded by the military government of the province of Anhwei but Dr. Wu Ting-fang, the acting premier has declined to sign it, an action necessary to make it effective. A dissolution of parliament would make impossible a declaration of war against Germany until a new parliament could be assembled.

The Bulgarian premier spent Sunday at Homburg Castle, conferring with Emperor William and Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and later departed for Vienna.

In an interview he spoke optimistically of Bulgaria's position on both the Macedonian and Roumanian fronts. The crops in the Bulgaria and Serbia, he said, promised to be the best in recent years.

A British patrol boat in the North Sea has destroyed two German seaplanes and put three others to flight.

The pilots of the two destroyed machines were made prisoner.

PROSPERITY IN EGYPT
DUE TO COTTON PRICE

Is Declaration of Acting Financial Adviser in Outlining Budget for Current Year—Large Sum Added to Capital Resources of Country—Imports Exceed all Previous Figures

Cairo, Egypt, May 11.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Egypt is enjoying an abundant prosperity as a result of the increase in price of cotton which doubled within three months last fall, declares the Acting Financial Adviser in outlining the Egyptian budget for the current year.

"Egyptian cotton," he asserts, "rose to heights unknown since the American Civil War. The result is that, notwithstanding the relatively inferior yield of the present crop, it probably will realize more than $100,000,000 or double that of last year."

The continued presence in Egypt of a large British force has at the same time exercised its influence as a second factor in the exceptional prosperity of the country. The difficulties in Egypt and Sudan have been drawn on in every conceivable manner for military requirements, and the result is that the population have been stimulated in all directions to meet the demand.

The Acting Financial Adviser estimates that during the two and a half years which have elapsed since the commencement of the war a sum of $200,000,000 has been added to the resources of Egypt.

"This considerable and unlooked for accession of wealth," continues the adviser, "does not permit of any fresh development of the country's economic resources for the present, owing to the difficulty of obtaining the necessary materials, which is a difficulty in fact, actually bringing about a tendency to retrogression by delaying the necessary upkeep of works and industries. The sums are consequently being employed in investments abroad, where they operate as a set off to the income of the country, probably to the extent of one-third of the private capital invested from foreign resources, and relieve to that extent the country of the burden of having to pay annually to its creditors abroad."

The adviser showed that imports in 1916 totalled nearly $21,000,000 in value, as compared with $19,000,000 in 1915, and have exceeded the figures for the year preceding the war. This rise is due to any lavish expenditure on the part of the people, but is mainly attributable to the greatly increased prices of practically all imports. Exports in 1916 amounted to $35,500,000.

"When one considers," resumes the adviser, "the general situation in Egypt as compared with that of other countries, it appears as one of singular felicity. Placed at a critical point in the theatre of war, the waves of invasion, nevertheless beat harmlessly against the well-guarded frontiers which have practically all imports. Exports in 1916 amounted to $35,500,000."

"The reorganization of the cotton area in 1916, coupled with the duties of a tenant on the import of cereals from other countries, has naturally diminished the available supplies of this category of foodstuffs. Some portion of the surplus stock of 1915 has, however, no doubt been available to supplement the production of 1916 and no serious shortage is anticipated until the forthcoming harvest."

The general level of wholesale prices of commodities in the country has risen to 32 per cent over July 1914. This rise is attributable, on the one hand, to the increased demand, both domestic and foreign, on the resources of the country, and on the other, to the difficulty of supplementing those resources by imports. In the war continues the diminution of the productive power of other countries will become more marked and it may become necessary for Egypt to adopt drastic measures by contributing supplies from her comparative abundance, even though to the detriment of her own economic life.

WEALTHY INDIAN BUYS
LIBERTY LOAN BONDS

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Jacksonson Barnett, reputed to be the wealthiest Indian in the United States today subscribed $640,000 to liberty loan bonds thru his guardian Carl J. O'Hornett, of Henrietta, Okla.

Barnett, a full blooded son of a Creek chieftain, derived his wealth from oil lands near Tulsa, Okla., which he at first rejected, declaring the tract fit only for coyotes and jack rabbits and in no wise suited to an Indian who merely wanted to fish and hunt. The discovery of oil and the lease of Barnett's land made the Indian a millionaire but he was unable to handle his affairs and a guardian was appointed.

KING HAS RED CROSS APPOINTMENT

Liverpool, May.—Manuel, former King of Portugal, has just been appointed by the British Red Cross Society as head of its section of Orthopedics, looking to the treatment of deformed in wounded soldiers. It is now engaged in a tour of inspection, with Colonel Robert Jones, Inspector-General of Orthopedics in the British army, of all the institutions in Great Britain where wounded soldiers are receiving treatment of this character.

TO LIMIT SALE OF BEER.
London, May.—In consequence of the beer shortage many of the leading restaurants have notified their customers that only one-half pint can be served with each meal per person.

Beer continues to rise in price, largely because brewers are attempting to maintain their pre-war profits on a largely diminished output. The expected state control will, it is believed by the trade, result in economies in many ways.

STRIVE TO STAMP OUT HYDROPHOBIA

Thyges, France, May.—Hydrophobia has been so prevalent in the department of the Aube that the authorities have been obliged to resort to radical measures. Every house dog, whether muzzled or not, is taken to the pound. Fifteen were killed in one day at Arcis-sur-Aube.

FARM NOTES

One Hundred Acres of Alfalfa.
A. M. Masters was very much interested yesterday in weather predictions as he has 100 acres of alfalfa cut on his farms in the vicinity of Murrayville. The cutting was completed Thursday, so that the down hay was in the rain Friday night. However, it was in good condition yesterday and Mr. Masters said that it could stand another rain or two without serious damage. He has been raising alfalfa now for such a long period that he is accustomed to rainy times and has put an alfalfa crop up in good condition after a two weeks period of wet weather. One reason that the crop can be handled satisfactorily, even in the face of difficulties, on the Masters farm is because of the great alfalfa barn and equipment and the large force of men available.

A sample of the alfalfa was on view yesterday in the Farrell & Co. bank and it is fully three feet high and very heavy. Mr. Masters says the prospect is the best he has ever had, for while the rainy weather is adding to the difficulty of harvesting, it has made conditions favorable for growth.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.
Henry Stolar of Mt. Vernon is in the city to enjoy commencement exercises. He was of the class of 1914, Illinois college and the past year has been teaching in Sidell. He had a narrow escape from the storm that devastated Mattoon. He was passing thru the place in an automobile and owing to the rain which was falling came very near remaining awhile and had he done so he would have been exposed to the fury of the storm which struck the place only an hour after he left. He feels very fortunate in escaping the tornado.

COL. PALMER IN ENGLAND.
Col. John McAuley Palmer is on Gen. Pershing's staff now in England. Col. Palmer is quite well known in Jacksonville as his wife was Miss Maude Laning, niece of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Laning. His father was the late Col. John Bay Palmer of Carlinsville and his grandfather was John M. Palmer, major general in the federal army during the Civil war, later governor of Illinois and U. S. Senator.

RED CROSS NEEDS AND AIMS FURNISHED THEME

Rev. Percy H. Epler Heard at Illinois College Vesper Service in Very Strong Appeal—Relief Work Pictures Given Thru Eyes of Those at the Front.

The vesper services on College Hill Sunday evening were truly impressive. The beautiful trees overshadowing the platform on which the speakers stood seemed to be silent sentinels watching over the nation new engaged in deadly warfare. The quiet calm was befitting the magnitude of the gifted speaker, Rev. Percy H. Epler of Indianapolis. Rev. R. B. Wilson presided and announced that stirring hymn, "The Son of God goes forth to war" which was sung with a will.

Rev. J. F. Langton, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, read the scripture lesson, those momentous words from Matt. 25, in which the scene at the end of the world is depicted when the blessed of the Father are hidden enter the kingdom prepared for them "inasmuch as they had done unto one of the least, etc." Rev. R. O. Post, D. D., offered a fervent prayer and then with complimentary remarks for the man who had written the life of Clara Barton, Rev. R. B. Wilson introduced the speaker of the evening.

It was an eloquent plea for the support of the Red Cross Work. A few paragraphs are offered for

Not Time for Spread-Eagle Oratory
My friends, I should not have been asked by the international atonement of blood through which we are about to pass, I feel it is no time for spread-eagle oratory or emotional pyrotechnics.

"Hushed and stilled by the sacrifice of our brave youths, who by the million will offer their lives for the internationalization of the divine oracles 'all men are created equal,' I feel like so many feel—like either acting or remaining silent.

"At the war council of the Red Cross convened last week, May 24 and 25, at Washington, all felt this same way and all voices were suppressed with an awe too deep for oratory and a mastery too determined for emotion. I have cloaked myself with attendants at this war council, two of its attendants being from Indianapolis. It is the latest source from which to drink the spirit and in which to articulate the program of the Red Cross; so what I give you today is based upon the authority of the leading actors on the Red Cross field of the world. I regret, however, just back from Belgium, Walcott just back from Poland, England's Red Cross head—who came over for the purpose of opening our eyes—and men like Taft, whom they say burned with a suppressed patriotism that transformed him as by fire.

"To express the pressure of the passion common to them and to us all—for my own idea of it I create this complex:

"America's ready to bleed at the birth
That freedom is having all over the earth

Thru Eyes of One at the Front.

"My friends, I am not raking up history today to speak on the aims of the Red Cross, though I might well do it through my acquaintance with its remarkable founder. I can see what we are to do with the Red Cross to be through lives at the front in Europe, representing America in the Red Cross the past year. Let a lad of one of the Congregational families of Indianapolis visualize the facts on the front in the Red Cross. He has been in the Red Cross Ambulance Corps a year, even as another of our Congregational boys, once the best of the Sunday school, went three months ago. He was one of the 500 ambulance drivers to be the first to carry Old Glory up to the enemy's trenches. What our boys are to go through, what especially the Red Cross is to go through, I see through the experience of the wounded each of these youths carried. What our Red Cross is to do with our wounded, I see through the window of his ambulance.

"Looking through his eyes in London, I follow him as he says: 'It was a stirring sight as the English swung around the boats, and sang American songs, shouting the whole time, Are we down-hearted? No, came from the line several blocks along. I tell you—the cheerfulness of them as they went back into the trenches with not more than an even chance of ever coming back.'

"In Paris I see him as he states: 'I started working three hours in a garage—you would be surprised to see your clumsy son in overalls and with dirty hands, putting on wheels and taking off tires.'

"You see, he is getting his ambulance ready for the front—and remember, he is a young man from a most aristocratic home on a most aristocratic street, used to a most aristocratic touring car. Now he is learning how to patch up a Ford instead of writing on the Harvard Crimson waiting for a future with a golden spoon in his mouth. He enlisted as a driver for the Red Cross ambulance—213 other college men started with him a year ago.

Working With the Stretcher
"Let us go with him. He said: 'I leave for the front tomorrow morning, full of excitement. I have had 1½ hours' sleep in 36 hours. Last night at midnight the call came—a train-load of wounded coming in at 3 a. m.' (So many Red Cross ambulances have been shot under the enemy's guns, these boys have to drive in the pitch dark without lights mostly at midnight.) 'And at 2:15 the call came,' he said, and 'we tore across in the dark. At 3:45 came 129 wounded. Whenever possible, American ambulance men did the stretcher work—this is my first real experience—it is three years since I worked so hard. The injuries were mostly in the legs and arms—some very pitiful and not one able to sit up. To move them to the stretcher without a jar is hard to do—you never saw such strength and bravery. I stepped into a car where all were singing and joking, though suppressed cries of pain were heard. One poor lad of about 19, suffering from gangrene, could not help but cry out all the time. I shuddered to think how he must be suffering in the ambulance. These men were from Verdun. Aside from the worries at the outset was the pluck of the French. It is all embodied in the phrase, 'C'est la guerre.' I can hardly comprehend it—it is too bad to be true. I have come out here along lines of trenches, lines of barbed wire seemingly impossible to penetrate—overhead are balloons or sausages and aeroplanes. We are right in the midst of it. An aeroplane went up over the German line, shrapnel bullets about it.

Opportunity for Work
"The duties and the opportunities which confront the Red Cross," said Chairman Davidson last week, "have no precedent in history and are not without human estimate. The War Council, however, can make definite plans and budgets to which it is supported by the generosity of the American people."

"The most pressing needs will require at least $100,000,000."
"The war council regards its task as a very sacred trust. If each individual American contributes his bit there can be no failure. The most stupendous and appealing call in the history of the world to aid suffering humanity confronts our Red Cross."

"This, remember, is a volunteer movement. The government, being unable to carry relief sufficient beyond its small army medical corps of 500 men, even if we add its reserve of 4500 and this in charge of the first zone—regimental field dressing stations, field hospitals and ambulance trains, following the regiments. It is a notable service and dyes the Red Cross with its own blood—for so far the greatest number of deaths among the Americans has been in the medical corps. But, how small this party number of less than 5000 regular and reserve medical corps compared with the vast numbers necessary for an army of millions which the people through the Red Cross must provide for.

A Gigantic Task
"Gigantic is the task for which one hundred million is now asked. Besides this, the call is for one million new members for the Red Cross for home dues and service. Only thus can we create the machinery of mercy commensurate with the task in this year which John R. Mott well calls, 'The most terrible in the world's history.'

"Back to the front again—through the eyes of our ambulance driver—we see a man ordered to cast a trench bomb. He dropped it—ten seconds and it would blow his five comrades to atoms, but without a second thought, they saw him throw himself upon it, saving the five, but torn into bits himself.

"If such is the spirit of sacrifice there, is any sacrifice by us too great for them?"

"Tuesday names of ten million young men were enlisted for the draft. Out of these will come an army for a million. That means America's ready to bleed at the birth.

"The only arm we can put under the million soldiers 3000 miles away is the Red Cross. Make it your arm to lift up the wounded, to care for the sick, to take your place. It is for you. It is for Christ, who says He is crucified afresh.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

WOODMEN MEMORIAL WAS HELD SUNDAY

Six Members of Camp 912 Died During Past Year—Eloquent Memorial Address by Judge Fort

The impressive memorial services of the Modern Woodmen were held Sunday afternoon at M. W. A. hall under the auspices of Jacksonville camp No. 912. The principal address was delivered by Judge Arthur C. Fort of Minonk. A large audience gathered and E. M. Vasconcellos, member of the memorial committee, gave the call to order and introduced H. H. Vasconcellos as chairman. The invocation was by Dr. Walter E. Spooner and the Sterling quartet sang "Lift up Your Eyes." Then came a violin solo by Dudley Hite, who had chosen as a selection The Viennese Song by B. Kreisler.

The chairman, Mr. Vasconcellos, then with fitting words paid tribute to the members who have died since the service of a year ago. He spoke of the characteristics that had given these departed brothers high place in the estimation of the deceased included: J. Carl Joaquin, Aug. 23, 1915; Samuel Jackson, Jan. 23, 1917; Henry J. DeCastro, Jan. 20, 1917; William T. Thompson, March 6, 1917; Elmer R. Nunes, March 8, 1917; William Nunes, May 15, 1917.

Next came a vocal solo, "In the Time of Roses," by Robert Boyd, his accompanist being Willard Wesner of Murrayville. The memorial address by Judge Fort was an eloquent summary of the work that the Modern Woodmen organization has done. He gave various statistics to show the strength and growth thru the years and pointed out that this growth was the direct result of the strict adherence to the lofty principles upon which the Modern Woodmen organization is founded. Comment was made upon some of the present day events which are touching the civilized world. It was a strong and able address throughout.

The Sterling quartet sang again, their selection being "Some Day, Sometime," and the audience joined in singing "America." The very interesting exercises closed with the benediction by Dr. Spooner.

The Sterling quartet members are Hiram Day, Ernest Fernandez, Russell Oliver and William Day. Their songs were well given and the memorial committee was fortunate in securing all musicians who had part in the program. Committees were sent to local cemeteries and graves of fifty one deceased members were decorated each with a potted plant. The hall was decorated with ferns and carnations, these flowers being furnished by H. H. and Son.

TRIBUTE PAID TO MEMORY OF MRS. SANDERS

Mrs. George W. Brown Presented Appreciation at Recent Meeting of Academy Alumnae

At the recent meeting of the alumnae of the Jacksonville Female academy and the athenaeum and conservatory of music an appreciation of Mrs. William D. Sanders was presented. This appreciation was written and read by Mrs. George W. Brown and is as follows:

As time carries us along on its tide, we do not realize the changes that are taking place, till some event of importance occurs, that brings us to our feet in wonderment, that things are as they have developed. Such an event to me and I think to most of us here, was the death on the 7th of October, 1916, of Mrs. William D. Sanders.

To me it brought recollections dating back for almost fifty years—to September, 1867, when a tall overgrown country girl of sixteen, came to Jacksonville and the Young Ladies' Athenaeum as a prospective pupil.

Multitudinous new ideas impressed themselves with vivid force in my immature mind. In many of them I found by later experience that I had been misled by a young girl's romantic imaginings, and by want of knowledge of life. But in others I found that my first impression had been remarkably correct.

I had not been a pupil in the school for very long before I got my first impression in regard to the personality of the wife of our superintendent, Prof. William D. Sanders.

The Porter Clay House I had been told long before about the history of the house that the family of the superintendent lived in, the old Porter Clay house. Along with the history of the Duncan mansion in the park in front of which the monument of Gov. Duncan still stood.

These things had been told me by my father among other bits of information, as we drove along West State street on our visits to the town. And still more by my grandmother Fairbank, who had told me many times the history of many of the old Jacksonville families. And I had invested in my childish mind, all the grace, dignity and old-fashioned gentility which emanated from the personality of my grandmother, into the characteristics with which I endowed the personages of her stories.

Impressions Well Founded In this I was very fortunate as later experience proved that my impressions were well founded. And in no case more so than in the character of the exquisite gentleman who presided over the Sanders homestead.

A finished product of the times before woman's suffrage was much more than a thing to be jested about, she could have furnished a living example, if one had been needed, of what could be accomplished by old fashioned ideas of the status of woman. Thoroughly feminine, and outwardly dependent, she actually ruled the family and friends, and all who came in contact with her, by the mighty force of the living flame within her. Absolutely unconscious and genuine and simple, demanding nothing, and asserting nothing, her personality made her the center of the home, and the creator of its atmosphere, the choicest of friends and the most gracious of acquaintances.

Was Loved by Everybody This was accomplished by the simple process of loving everybody, and being loved by everybody in return, and by the charity which not only does not speak evil, but which is incapable of thinking evil.

Later on as I was invited to her house among my school girl companions, how she made shyness and awkwardness disappear and self-consciousness as tho it were not.

After I had finished my course at the Young Ladies' Athenaeum I became necessarily absorbed in my own private affairs, and was not through very intimately with Mrs. Sanders.

Her life became saddened by losses by death; and she grew into such physical frailty and such spiritual loveliness that she was guarded night and day as of something so rare and precious, and of which there is so little in this world that it would be a calamity, not only to her family, but to the community, to lose it. Beautiful and delicate as a china vase whose value cannot be computed, she lived for many years in the home which she loved, ministered to so tenderly by her children, sought after by friends and acquaintances, exercising an abounding hospitality, cultivating her flowers and sending them to every one whom she thought they would cheer or comfort, and diffusing her own sweetness and light to the end.

Do Not Yet Realize Loss Her leaving us was such a loss, that I do not think we yet realize it.

Where can we now find just such a home in Jacksonville? Some remnants of the old time atmosphere still remain but the old families who were the flower of the old-fashioned civilization are all gone.

And we are left to wish that we could carry some of the fine flavor of that old civilization into these hard, unrefined times of strenuous accomplishment.

Let us as the Jacksonville alumnae, while we value the grand things that have come to us as women during the last fifty years, still cling in our hearts and minds to the ideals, which made the life of Mrs. Sanders exercise such a loving and living spell in this community.

EIGHT GRADUATE FROM WHIPPLE ACADEMY

Excellent Program Given at Commencement Exercises Monday—Prizes are Announced

Whipple academy commencement yesterday morning on the college campus was a happy event when diplomas were awarded eight young people. They were Byron Gray Carpenter, George Harry Garrison, Frances Porter Gatliff, Esther Louise Gustafson, Albert Frederick Hoagland, Owen Jones, Ellen Margaret Thibaud, Oscar Julius Thibaud.

Prayer was offered by Rev. R. B. Wilson and then a string quartet composed of Misses Mabel Forrester, Helen Sorrells, Messrs. Byron Gray Carpenter and Karl Hill rendering some excellent music. The selections were:

Chor from Iphigenie Gluck
Marche Religieuse d'Alceste Gluck
Miss Frances Gatliff delivered a fine oration, "The last of the Romanoffs," in which she eloquently depicted the history of the mighty land which has recently thrown off the yoke of the Romanoffs and declared itself a republic. She described the character of the deposed emperor and gave a thrilling account of the events which led up to the great act of freedom on the part of the Russian people. Her effort was worthy of much praise.

Miss Esther Gustafson delivered a humorous declamation entitled "Capital Punishment" and showed good ability as a public declaimer speaking with distinctness and in a manner to be heard and enjoyed by her audience.

The theme of George Garrison's excellent oration was "The Need of Men" and the effort was most timely. He told in eloquent words the great need the country has in its present crisis for men, men who will stand for the right; men who will put duty above all else; men ready to sacrifice their all on the altar of their country; men willing to work at home, go to the front, to suffer and, if need be, die for their country. The effort was excellent.

The quartet played Spanish Dance by Weber and then Principal Robinson announced the prizes and presented the diplomas.

Declamation contest, first, $8.00, Miss Alice Bray; second, $4.00, divided between Felix Farrell and Charles Nickel.

First grade standing, prize, $60.00 scholarship in the college, girl, Miss Esther Gustafson; boy, Geo. H. Garrison. He then announced that during the coming year there would be some changes the sub-junior year being omitted. He expressed the hope that there might be a good attendance of both boys and girls ready to prepare themselves for the duties of life.

With suitable words of commendation Principal Robinson delivered the diplomas and gave an earnest address to the class and some excellent advice. Owen Jones was not present as he had left to go to farm work. After the benediction by Rev. R. B. Wilson Prof. Smith and Principal Robinson tendered all present an invitation to meet the students socially in the library building.

Schram's closing out auction sale begins Thursday at 2:30 o'clock.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The second part of the program was designated as a memorial to the Rev. Ray Eldred, drowned while in Africa as a missionary. The three sons of Mr. Eldred were here from Springfield to attend the exercises and with them came Dr. and Mrs. Morrison, their foster parents. At this time a demonstration was given of "A Sunday School Class in Action," with Clarence L. DePew, the superintendent, asking the questions of the boys of Harry Walker's class.

LITERBERRY BAPTIST LADIES' AID MEETS

Profitable Session Held at Home of Mrs. James Lowden—Baptist Church Has Children's Day Program—Mrs. J. A. Litter Reminded on Birthday—Other Literary News Items.

Literberry, June 11.—The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church met on Wednesday at Cedar Ridge, with Mrs. James Lowden and daughter, Mary. After the usual devotional service and business, the questions on the first seven chapters of the book of Genesis were given out, and quite an interesting half hour was spent in answering. This division was from the creation to the deluge, and quite sufficient for one lesson.

Mrs. J. E. Underbark then gave a talk on Our Aid, its privileges and work, which was a splendid talk and fully appreciated by the sisters; her closing was: we are the seventy, the Church the twelve; we are the branch, the church the tree; we are the raindrops, the church the lake to be filled; we are the oil, the church is the lamp, and it is our business to keep the lamp burning.

She gave a toast as follows: "They talk about women's sphere As tho it had a limit; There's not a place in earth or heaven, There's not a task to mankind given, There's not a joy, there's not a woe, There's not a whispered yes or no, There's not a death, there's not a birth, That has one feather's weight of worth, Without a woman in it."

Mrs. Ahl Dinwiddie gave a missionary reading.

Refreshments of the "best ever" were served in great abundance. The dime dish was filled and the meeting closed with many thanks to Mrs. and Miss Lowden for the very pleasant afternoon spent.

Mrs. J. A. Litter of Orchard Place held a birthday last Sunday and received some valuable presents, among them a tiny gold chain, and a diamond lavalliere, which she is proudly showing to her friends. Another present, not so tiny, is a handsome, new, blue flame coal oil stove, of late design.

Some of our people attended Children's Day service at Grace Chapel on Sunday afternoon and report a fine program; they always do well at the chapel and finish up with a big offering for foreign missions.

Children's Day was observed here at the Baptist church on Sunday morning. The children, under the training of Mrs. J. M. Daniels, Mrs. Warren Daniels and Mrs. Ona Crum, carried out their part nicely, in songs, recitations and dialogues. 110 answered to the roll call at the Sunday school hour, and many more came in for the Children's service.

Mrs. George Ratliff of Jacksonville was calling on friends here last Thursday.

Mrs. Wm. Hamilton and daughter Wanda of Carrollton, are visiting friends in Literberry.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Litter of Little Indian, and Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson of Jacksonville attended Children's Day services at the Baptist church Sunday morning.

Mrs. Thomas Murphy and daughter Esther of Concord, were canvassing Literberry last Wednesday for subscriptions to "The Household Journal." Mrs. Murphy is working for the first prize, a new house, in the flat, just ready to be put together.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Murray were called to Macon on Thursday, to attend the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. A. L. Murray.

Miss Edith Serbiner is convalescing after a siege with the measles, and says, "they're gone forever."

Carl Cooper and his motor cycle ran over the little dog belonging to Wiley Serbiner, and crippled it so badly it had to be killed. This is the second dog belonging to Little Wiley, that has been killed on the street, and he naturally feels grieved over it.

SCHOOL HEATING PLANT IDEA IS APPROVED

Council Took Favorable Action On Board of Education Plan as Drawn By Mr. Pierson—Will Vacate Part of Court Street—Fourth of July Celebration But No Central Park Night Fireworks.

Mayor Rodgers was absent from the Monday morning session of the city council and Commissioner Widmayer presided in his stead. A committee from the board of education was present and authority was granted for the building of a boiler house adjoining the high school building, carrying with it an agreement from the council that a portion of the street will be vacated. The use of Central park for the Fourth of July celebration was granted with the understanding that any night fireworks display shall be in some other locality.

After the usual routine business reports of departments were called for and Mr. Cox made reference to the trouble with the South Diamond street sewer, which is of a somewhat continuous kind. He said that it would be necessary to procure a machine which is specially designed for the purpose of cutting tree roots. It is tree roots that have caused all the trouble with the Diamond street sewer.

Mr. Vasconcellos reported trouble some conditions at the North side pumping station because of high water. The condition there in the last ten days or two weeks has necessitated more than the usual amount of pumping from the south side station.

Board of Education Committee.
The committee from the board of education, including Thomas Hopper, Henry Muchhausen and Dr. W. P. Duncan, together with J. K. C. Pierson, architect, appeared before the council to ask authority for the erection of a boiler house adjacent to the high school building. The plans as drawn by Mr. Pierson were shown and explained by him and the council by unanimous vote authorized the board to proceed with the improvement. The board agreed to pave the street from Fayette to Kosciusko and the council agreed to vacate that portion which will be needed for the improvement.

The building which is proposed will extend eleven feet below the surface of the street and about the same above the surface. In times past the city has vacated part of the street for the use of the high school building and the proposed plan calls for the vacation of about nine feet more.

The addition as designed by Mr. Pierson will be slightly and the arrangements are such that water will be taken from the roof thru downfalls on the inside. This will avoid surface water on the street at that point which would be difficult to handle satisfactorily. The heating plant also as planned is in accord with the most modern ideas. The sidewalk adjacent to the high school will be five feet wide and the pavement will be 25 feet wide from curb to curb.

ment will be 25 feet wide from curb to curb.

Talk About July 4th Plans.
H. P. Obermeyer, representing a committee of merchants, was present to ask the use of Central park for a Fourth of July celebration. He stated that at a recent meeting merchants had decided that this year the best plan would be to confine the celebration practically to the business district. He went on to say that while the practice had not been followed for several years, that formerly the fireworks were discharged from a point on the north side of the square and that no damage resulted. He said frankly that the merchants who contributed to the fund for the Fourth of July observance naturally wished to be benefited as much as possible from the arrangements and with that end in view the proposal to celebrate downtown had been agreed upon. Mr. Obermeyer said his committee had met with the Red Cross committee and that the desire was to work together and have as large and successful a celebration as possible.

Dr. W. E. Spoons was present as a representative of the Red Cross committee and suggested that the committee's own idea was that this year's celebration should be more impressive than in times past because of the existing conditions. The thought was that it would be unfortunate to commercialize Fourth of July, especially this year. He said that the committee desired to work in entire harmony with the merchants' committee and that no doubt this could be done.

E. H. Gray, superintendent of the Railway & Light company, thought that with a good crowd of visitors in the city that the Red Cross committee might reasonably expect to secure additional members. He thought that whatever was done should be with a friendly co-operative spirit on the part of both the merchants and the Red Cross committee.

Mr. Martin was in favor of having the merchants use the park but was afraid of the danger from fire from having the fireworks display in the business district. Mr. Vasconcellos and Mr. Widmayer spoke along the same line. Mr. Cox was of the opinion that the past years had not shown any special danger from that cause and as the merchants were paying for the celebration he was in favor of granting their entire request. The motion to grant the use of Central park was except for night use for fireworks made by Mr. Martin with a second by Mr. Vasconcellos and was carried. Mr. Martin, Mr. Widmayer and Mr. Vasconcellos voting yes and Mr. Cox voting no.

FRANKLIN I. O. O. F. HOLDS MEMORIAL

Well Attended Services Sunday Afternoon—Loyal Daughters Meet—Other Franklin News.

Franklin, Ill., June 11.—The Odd Fellows' Lodge held the annual memorial service Sunday afternoon. Members of the lodge met at the hall at 2 o'clock and then marched to the cemetery where a brief service was held in charge of the Rev. J. N. Jerman. The lodge then attended to the decorating of the graves.

Loyal Daughters Entertained.
Misses Chattle and Lou Duncan were hostesses Monday evening to the young women of the Loyal Daughters class, of which Mrs. James Todd, Jr., is the teacher. After a brief business meeting a social hour prevailed and refreshments were served.

Miss Ima Berryman of Jacksonville was here to spend the week end with Miss Lucile Olinger. There was good attendance Sunday afternoon at Durbin M. E. church, where Children's Day exercises were held. At Franklin M. E. church a good Children's Day program was carried out Sunday morning.

Alan Keplinger is here from Evanston to make a visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Keplinger. Mr. Keplinger has passed examination for two branches of the army service and is expecting a call as an early date.

The building committee of the M. E. church were in Collinsville last week to inspect the parsonage there. Both wood and brick have been discussed as materials for the new building.

Elgin D. Olinger, who has been pursuing university work in Colorado, has returned to Franklin for the summer. He will probably continue his studies next fall. Mr. Olinger was a visitor Sunday in Jacksonville.

NEW WAVERLY CHURCH.
The current issue of the Waverly Journal notes the announcement made recently of the laying of the corner stone of the new First M. E. church which is to take place Sunday, June 17. This building, together with the addition to the graded school building, will constitute a great improvement and give evidence of the enterprise of the Waverly community.

Previous to letting the contract for the church building, the plans for a number of other churches recently erected were carefully considered and the Waverly edifice was planned with due regard to the needs of the congregation.

The addition to the school building increases four rooms built on the front, and the building when completed will be a spacious one of eight rooms. The Gibson Lumber company, a Waverly concern, has furnished the entire amount of building material, lumber, cement, etc., for both the church and the school. The erection of the church and school house has furnished labor to a number of the Waverly citizens and has thus contributed materially to the prosperity of the community during the past season.

D. O. K. K. PROPOSAL FOR WAR AMBULANCE

Imperial Palace Officers Recommend Use of Funds for This Purpose Instead of for Biennial Meeting.

L. O. Vaught has returned from Columbus, Ohio, where he attended a meeting of the officers of the Imperial Palace, Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan. Mr. Vaught is member of the finance committee of the order.

At the meeting the officers decided to recommend that the biennial meeting which was to have been held in Chattanooga, Tenn., be dispensed with and the order purchase and equip an ambulance for service on the western front in France.

This action was taken following a report from a member of the Imperial Palace who resides at Chattanooga. This gentleman stated that barracks were being built in Chickamauga park for the establishment of one of the army concentration camps. It was his opinion that by the time the session was held that Chattanooga would be filled to overflowing with soldiers and officers and that it would be impossible to get hotel accommodations.

Would Buy Ambulance Equipment.
It was estimated that the cost of prizes for Brigand and band contests and other expenses incidental to holding the meeting would amount to $10,000. This it was decided to use for the purchase of an ambulance and its equipment. As soon as the action of the meeting was made known a member of the order in Columbus telephoned to the officers a proffer of his services to drive the ambulance.

While the officers have no power to carry out the recommendation as to the purchase of the ambulance without the consent of the order, it is a foregone conclusion that the recommendation will be adopted unanimously. It is the intention to hold a business session of the Imperial Palace at Cedar Point, Ohio some time about the middle of August.

In Famous Hotel.
The sessions of the body were held in the famous Neil house in Columbus which is directly opposite the capitol building. In this hotel much of the political history of the state of Ohio was made. Mr. Vaught occupied the room which President McKinley used when he was governor of Ohio.

There are probably twenty or thirty rooms which all open into a big square which may be used by the guests as an assembly room. It was here the sessions of the Imperial Palace were held. Mr. Vaught fell in love with the hotel and came back filled with a deeper spirit of patriotism because of association with surroundings so intimately connected with the life of the martyred president.

One thing that Mr. Vaught was impressed with was the display of the patriotism of the members of the Imperial Palace. The members came from every part of the United States. It was worthy of note, however, that the members from the south led in the work in hand and their patriotism was deep seated and strong.

WOMAN'S PATRIOTIC AND ECONOMIC DUTY

Standing face to face with a great war, we realize that a tremendous effort is being made to encourage increased production in all lines, and that the Government, working on the problem of food production, urges the increase, wherever possible, of garden areas, and the cultivation of them intensively. We also realize that this increased production of food is only half the battle and that the preservation of these increased productions of food is the other half. This is the patriotic and economic part that must be shouldered by the American woman who is "doing her bit" for her country this summer. This must be the NEW DRIVE on the high cost of living and the ammunition for that drive must come out of your summer garden to fill up the shelves of your cellar garden for the coming winter's consumption.

When housewives last purchased canned goods, they found considerable increase in cost. The increased shortage of tin plate has hit the canning factories hard. The shortage of last season's crops and the fact that the bulk of the 1917 pack was sold before the seeds were even planted, are responsible for the condition which faces the spender of family funds at this time.

Sit down today with paper and pencil and figure out how many cans you used for your family last winter, and then how many jars of both fruit and vegetables you will need for this winter, adding to that list the vegetables you can preserve by drying, as asked of us by the Government a few weeks ago. Remember, vegetables as well as fruits are successfully put up in glass jars today. The prudent housewife will be planning an extensive canning campaign as she sees her garden appearing in successive crops, much of which will be wasted if she does not avail herself of the simple canning methods. Begin at once to put away for that rainy day, which is surely staring us in the face—if women realize too late what is expected of them right now! Remember, every pound of vegetables and fruits you put away in your cellar garden, will release an equal amount of food in that great stream of supplies which we must send to the soldiers at the front. Therefore—take for your motto "double my canning output."

"Eat what you can and can what you can't" is also quite to the point, and do not leave even a few bunches of either turnips or carrots escape your canning raid, but serve them young and tender to your appreciative family next winter, and do your patriotic best to rout waste which will otherwise occur. Let this be a large part of our share in this war.

Classes for canning demonstrations will be held in the Parish Hall of Trinity church, Thursday afternoons at 2 o'clock, each week. A charge of ten cents will be made, which will be used in Red Cross work.

These classes are for the benefit of the public and the place of meeting has been chosen because of its central position, the Parish House being open all week for Red Cross work. All interested are urged to attend. Your garden is ready for you now, prepare yourself to take care of it.

Other towns in the state are canning with enthusiasm, why not Jacksonville. Trinity Parish House, 2 o'clock Thursdays.

TRY IT AND SEE!

Lift your corns or calluses off
with fingers! Doesn't hurt a bit!

A noted Cincinnati chemist discovered a new ether compound and called it freezone and it now can be had
in tiny bottles as here shown for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a
tender corn or painful cal-
lus and instantly the sore-ness disappears. Then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can just lift it off with
the fingers.

No pain, not a bit of
soreness, either when applying freezone or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! Seems magi-

THE PARK WALKS

(Communicated)

The action of the park board in
going ahead with the so-called improvement in Central park at this time is utterly inexcusable and is being seemingly done with sole purpose of impeding and harassing the Morgan County Monument association who expect to, and will, build a memorial in the center of the park, and whatever damage and
waste of money may result the park
board will be responsible to the taxpayers of Morgan county.

Whether intentional or not they are
defying public opinion in the matter
and perpetrating an outrage on the great majority of our citizens, and
more especially the taxpayers who voted for the appropriation to build
a memorial to commemorate the valor of those who gave the best
years of their lives to keep the old
flag in the sky, and who made it possible for us to have a united nation
at this the most critical period in the history of our country since the war of the rebellion.

Those old walks would have lasted at least another year, by which time the monument will have been built and dedicated in the centennial
year of 1918, when 6,000,000 of people will celebrate the 100th anniversary of a state that gave to the nation and the ages the immortal
Lincoln, the invincible Grant, the peerless soldier and statesman Major General John A. Logan, and last but not least, Richard Yates, the great war governor whose good right hand
signed the commission of the commander of all the mighty hosts
whose muskets blazed the way to human liberty in the dark days of the civil war.

The action of the park board in foraging ahead and trying to delay
and defeat the work of the Monument association at this inopportune
time, is an insult and an outrage
to the memory of every son of Morgan county who fought and suffered
and died in the perilous years of the long ago, the remnant of the Grand Army who saved the nation and the new Grand Army now about to take part in the great world cataclysm
beyond the sea, where democracy is arrayed against military autocracy
as exemplified by the Kaiser and his allies who have set the world on fire and caused more suffering and more slaughter than has ever been recorded since God said, "Let there
be light."

And our monument is to commemorate the valor of the heroes in embryo of Morgan county who may,
in the not distant future step to the music of the Marseillaise and fall under the tri-colors of France fighting
for universal liberty. God alone knows what is before us and He alone knows what a day may bring forth as nearly all of civilization is involved in the present world cataclysm which has no parallel in all
annals of time. Those of us who marched and fought and suffered in
the long ago, and are nearing the eternal sunset, realize and feel more keenly the outrageous action of the park board than does the average citizen, for we feel that we took an humble part in making it possible
for a generous people to vote an appropriation to build a shaft to commemorate the heroism of those who died that the nation might live, and
that all might rest secure beneath the aegis of the flag their valor brought back from a thousand battle fields, untarnished and without the loss of a single star, whose lustre shines brighter for having been washed in the blood of 400,000 loyal
sons of the north who gave the full measure of devotion to the cause of God and universal freedom and the
principle that all men and women,
regardless of creed, color or previous condition of servitude, should have an equal chance in the great contest
to live, move and have our being.

In the building of the monument
scores of loads of material will have to be handled and the concrete
work now being done will come in
for a smashing, but it will be unavoidable and will have to be done
over again at an enormous expense,
and to make it conform to the grade
around the monument will be no
easy task. The Monument Commission should get out an injunction
and restrain the park board from committing further depredations
until the purpose for which it is intended and endorsed by a large majority of the veterans of Morgan county.

I repeat that the park board seems to be trying to do all in its power
to impede the progress of the work
of building a shaft to commemorate the heroic deeds of our citizen soldiers in the past and in the contests
yet to come, in which many brave
boys must fall, in order that our government must not perish from the earth. And "if this be treason
make the most of it."

Yours respectfully,

Veteran of '61-'65.

DR. POST HEARD IN SPLENDID ADDRESS

Baccalaureate Service for Illinois College Held Sunday at Congregational Church—"Law of Life" Was Theme

Sunday was truly a notable day in the history of Illinois college. The baccalaureate in the morning and the beautiful vesper service on the campus in the evening was a fitting close to an eventful day. In the morning the faculty, trustees, alumni, seniors, students and friends of the college gathered at the Congregational church and took their seats to enjoy the services of the day which were of a noble and impressive order.

The procession was formed at the church doors and the order established was as follows:

President Charles H. Rammelkamp and guests of the college.

Members of the graduating classes.

Members of the faculty of the different departments of the college.

Alumni and alumnae.

Students and former students of the college.

For the first time in many years Judge Edward P. Kirby, recently deceased, was not present to lead the procession of the alumni. His place as the oldest resident alumnus was taken this year by Dr. T. J. Pitner.

The order of the service was as follows:

Program

Organ Voluntary.

Processional, March from Athalia (Mendelssohn)—Mrs. Helen Ayers Bullard.

Doxology, The Lord's Prayer and Gloria Patria, the congregation standing.

Anthem, "Unfold Ye Portals" (Gounod)—Special choir by pupils of Mrs. Wilson.

Scripture lessons read by President C. H. Rammelkamp.

Hymn, "Fight the Good Fight"—Choir and congregation.

Prayer—Rev. R. B. Wilson, pastor of State Street Presbyterian church.

Notices and announcements for College Week.

Offertory, anthem, "Forward March" (Shelley)—Special choir.

Offering for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. of the college.

Introduction of the speaker by President Rammelkamp.

Sermon by the Rev. Roswell O. Post, D. D.

Prayer by the Rev. A. B. Morey, D. D.

Hymn, "America"—Choir and congregation.

Benediction—Rev. R. B. Wilson.

Recessional—Mrs. Bullard.

The special choir was composed of the following students of the Illinois Conservatory of Music, all of whom are also pupils of Mrs. Genevieve Clark Wilson, who trained them for this service: The Misses Nellie Self, Dorothy Hite, Mabel Forrester, Loraine Dewese, Catherine Rapp and Fern Haigh; Edwin Gordon, Byron Carpenter, Robert Shumaker, Willard Wesner and Robert Boyd.

Mrs. Bullard played the organ with her usual fine ability.

In introducing Dr. R. O. Post, speaker of the occasion, Pres. Rammelkamp paid a tribute to him, emphasizing the high esteem in which he is held by the faculty and students of the college, his depth of thinking, his profound reasoning, his honest frankness, his superior judgment, one who has ever been regarded as a valued friend and adviser of the institution.

Dr. Post responded in a feeling manner remarking that it was truly a rare privilege to be thus regarded and to be permitted to address the graduating class on such an occasion and invoking the divine blessing on all both students and instructors. Of his excellent discourse only a few parts are offered.

The theme was "The Law of Life."

"As dying, and behold, we live," H. Cor. vi:9. The context reads: "In everything commending ourselves, as ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses, in stripes, in imprisonments, in labors, in watchings, in fastings, in purity, in knowledge, in long suffering, in kindness, in the Holy Spirit, in love unfeigned, in the word of truth, in the power of God; by the armor of righteousness on the right hand and on the left, by honor and dishonor, by evil report and good report; as deceivers, and yet true; as unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and yet alive, making many rich, as having nothing, and yet possessing all things."

—Vs. 4-10.

The Seeming and the Real

"As here the whole gamut of life's experience runs its course from the nadir deep up to its zenith, you may plainly see the distinction drawn between the seeming and the real, the transient and the permanent, the quantitative and the qualitative; and, from the experiences of the two realms of the seen and the unseen, you may also see standing forth the victor soul, who has gotten life's satisfaction in great richness, and in the getting has enriched the world. Life, real life, permanent, qualitative, emergent from the seeming, the transient and the quantitative; and life is the only ultimate reality. Then how get it? How reach its zenith? Does the great Apostle maintain that life is gotten by experiencing all the distresses, afflictions, stripes, imprisonments and the like; while foregoing all the pure joys, sweet amenities and wholesome pleasures, even all which give the charm, the zest, and the poetry of life? Assuredly no. There is no confusion of thought on the part of Paul but by the very contrast in experience, disclosing that law of life which runs unalterably thru the realms of matter, mind and spirit. Long years ago Aristotle observed that the destruction of one thing is the genesis of another; and in harmony is the strain of Tennyson's song,

"I held it truth, That men may rise on stepping stones

Of their dead selves to higher things."

Philosopher, poet, and Apostle, unite in the truth of our text, "As dying and behold we live."

To the happy, wholesome, life-loving youth, at first glance, this seems to be a gawdime theme; were death the end of all, such indeed it would be, and sad violence would be done this occasion where every word throught the service should inspire to the highest endeavors of life. But—"Death hath a thousand doors to let out life," and it shall be my passionate purpose to show you the door opening into the fullness of life, the only entrance into that kingdom where life is worth the living; for, after long and anxious gaze over the whole horizon of being, time reveals no open door into the realm of beauty, truth and love, save in the portal which we call death. If true, as truth seekers let us bravely face the fact and learn that the first step in obeying this law of life is first to die.

Toward attaining this desired end let us devote our best thought, and ask, What are those things to which we must die in order that we may truly live?

Die to the living for self-gratification.

Indulgence is the radical besetting sin from the first conscious day to the last conscious breath. The desire to have the world bring you its toys or its treasures to amuse or support, to bask in the pleasures of the present moment at the cost of others all that you greedily can and give not to any a crust or a farthing, saying, "The world is my oyster, I will open and feed on its succulent meat, for what to me the cry of the human?" Indulgence must be ruthlessly slain or the door is closed upon life.

Thus dying, and behold, you live. Live to what? Live to the utter giving of self, for as you give you get, and in mathematical exactness, Jesus' emptied Himself and seeing the travail of His soul was satisfied. To invest all your all in the common good is gaining the only principal which of a certainty makes rich the investor. Live for the quest of truth. In the seeking is the satisfaction, in discovering the immeasurableness are our boundaries correspondingly enlarged. A boundless realm, but every step within is soul amplifying, losing your little strutting exaggerated self as you begin to take on the folds of the infinite, unclothed at the transient, clothed upon the permanent. No longer mere mortal man, but man immortal! Live for the love of liberty. Make it the passion of your souls and give to it the last full measure of devotion. Vain your dying indulgence of self, the limitations of environment, and the swathing bands of custom, if you come not forth into liberty. Here the clearest thinking is demanded, for the freedom of the individual is the freedom of all and the freedom of all is the freedom of the individual. Single sovereignty and social solidarity are interdependent, as neither can exist without the other. Liberty was never gained by solitary possession of a desert isle, neither by mad passion with a mob, rather liberty is the reciprocal recognition of individual and collective sovereignty, one for all and all for one. Caste nor class nor special privilege of any sort have place in your new world of freedom.

The World Today

Fellow students: My theme was fairly forced upon me by the condition of the world of today. A condition too horrible to be realized. Only a Miltonic imagination could sense the present day situation. Civilization reaching its crest with the dawn of the twentieth century has been hurled back into the abyss of pre-human chaos. This morning we open our windows and look out over what was e'en yesterday the fair face of the foot-stool of God, and lo, the fond home of that yesterday lies blighted, the flowering of the ages crushed under the mad wage of war; to all outward appearance, not only the arts, the letters and the realizations of science are helpless to save society, but Christianity itself has been weighed in the balance and found wanting—and all the unholy daughters of the Philistines rejoice. Aye, if my text be false, no ray of light penetrates the black pall of light which shrouds the whole habitable globe. Gross materialism, primal and ultimate cause of the insane conflict, with its dedication of men and money and might, will hurl back into the bottomless pit all the high standards of humanity, morality and religion. Mammon and Moloch will reign and light their altars to lust and greed and frivolity. But—if my text be true, true for nations as for individuals, hope revives and expectancy is awakened. This sad day is only the death and burial precedent to the glorious resurrection, a dying to class and caste and special privilege, a burial to crowns and thrones and hereditary distinctions, that therefrom may come the democracy of the Manger, the federation of nations, and the brotherhood of man. My text is true, for in the very midst of present tears and anguish of soul you may look up and out and over to where a new day is dawning, it is brightening in the far away east. Even now voices in all lands are joining in demanding the recognition of individual sovereignty and of the sovereign people; their right alone to determine the conduct of nations, their right to make this war a war upon war and to usher in the day of perpetual peace. Yes, the day is coming, surely coming, when the Prince of Peace shall reign from shore to shore and man to man shall brothers be.

To The Graduates

Young ladies and young gentlemen of the graduating class:

This morning you stand on life's threshold and look out into the face of the saddest day the sun ever shone upon since they went up from Calvary. Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani, and there was a darkness over all the earth. I beseech you, look on today as the—on that yesterday which brought forth from the blackness of divine despair the whitest light of joy and peace that heaven could send to illumine the soul of man forevermore; out from the shades of light, from the sorrows, the joy, from the strife of man the peace of God. For again the world is on trial; civilization is at its crisis; all the fruition of time is impeded; all the hopes of the future hang in the balance; the great day of decision is here, with brave heart face it. Life now as never before may be worth the living; into the gloom, rampant and universal, plunge; bury your all, reserve neither nerve, nor thought, nor heart-throb; with utter abandon make the dedicat a for the release of humanity from the bondage of sense to the freedom of soul. "God's in his heaven," it is for you, and all of kindred consecration, to make it "all right with the world." The opportunity of the ages opens; I bid you enter, enter to die, to die daily; enter to be buried, to be buried totally; and in the death and burial strive, strive mightily, strive as an immortal, follow the aspirations of your soul, from the present body of death reach out and up, and on the morrow you will come forth in the full plenitude of the resurrection life to win and wear the deathless crown.

Lemons Do Whiten! Try This on Face, Neck, Arms, Hands

The lemon juice massage indulged in once or twice each day means a little time and trouble, girls, but what of the splendid results? A skin bleached beautifully white, a complexion with the bloom of a peach, a softening of those lines of care; in fact, a skin eloquent of nature's purity and hands white, soft and full of charm.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When massaged daily into the face, neck, arms and hands it should naturally help to whiten, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.—Adv.

Yourself as cool and fresh as when you came to the kitchen. Breakfast over and dishes done you turn down the wick and the fire is out. The morning is yours. No black pots to clean and to coarsen your hands. No wood or coal, or ashes to think about. No fires to die out and every atom of fuel is used for heat when you want to use it.

TRY IT AND SEE!

Lift your corns or calluses off
with fingers! Doesn't hurt a bit!

A noted Cincinnati chemist discovered a new ether compound and called
it freezone and it now can be had
in tiny bottles as here shown for a
few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few
drops of freezone upon a
tender corn or painful cal-
lus and instantly the sore-
ness disappears. Then
shortly you will find the
corn or callus so loose that
you can just lift it off with
the fingers.

No pain, not a bit of
soreness, either when applying freezone or afterwards and it doesn't even
irritate skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened cal-
luses just shrivel up and lift off so
easy. It is wonderful! Seems magical. It works like a charm. Genuine freezone has a yellow label. Do not accept any except with the yellow label.—Adv.

THE PARK WALKS

(Communicated)

The action of the park board in
going ahead with the so-called improvement in Central park at this
time is utterly inexcusable and is
being seemingly done with sole purpose of impeding and harassing the Morgan County Monument association. The association, and will, build a memorial in the center of the
park, and whatever damage and
waste of money may result the park
board will be responsible to the taxpayers of Morgan county.

Whether intentional or not they are
defying public opinion in the matter
and perpetrating an outrage on the great majority of our citizens, and
more especially the taxpayers who
voted for the appropriation to build
a memorial to commemorate the
valor of those who gave the best
years of their lives to keep the old
flag in the sky, and who made it possible for us to have a united nation
at this the most critical period in
the history of our country since the war of the rebellion.

Those old walks would have lasted at least another year, by which
time the monument will have been
built and dedicated in the centennial
year of 1918, when 6,000,000 of
people will celebrate the 100th anniversary of a state that gave to the nation and the ages the immortal
Lincoln, the invincible Grant, the
peerless soldier and statesman Major General John A. Logan, and last but not least, Richard Yates, the great
war governor whose good right hand
signed the commission of the commander of all the mighty hosts
whose muskets blazed the way to
human liberty in the dark days of the civil war.

The action of the park board in forging ahead and trying to delay
and defeat the work of the Monument association at this inopportune
time, is an insult and an outrage
to the memory of every son of Morgan county who fought and suffered
and died in the perilous years of the
long ago, the remnant of the Grand Army who saved the nation and the new Grand Army now about to take
part in the great world cataclysm
beyond the sea, where democracy is
arrayed against military autocracy
as exemplified by the Kaiser and his
allies who have set the world on
fire and caused more suffering and
more slaughter than has ever been recorded since God said, "Let there
be light."

And our monument is to commemorate the valor of the heroes of the embryo of Morgan county who may,
in the not distant future step to the music of the Marseillaise and fall under the tri-colors of France fighting
for universal liberty. God alone
knows what is before us and He
alone knows what a day may bring
forth as nearly all of civilization is
involved in the present world cata-
clysm which has no parallel in all
annals of time. Those of us who marched and fought and suffered in
the long ago, and are nearing the
eternal sunset, realize and feel more
keenly the outrageous action of the
park board than does the average
citizen, for we feel that we took an
humble part in making it possible
for a generous people to vote an appropriation to build a shaft to commemorate the heroism of those who died that the nation might live, and
that all might rest secure beneath the aegis of their flag. Their valor
brought back from a thousand battles, untarnished and without the loss of a single star, whose lustre shines brighter for having been washed in the blood of 400,000 loyal
sons of the north who gave the full
measure of devotion to the cause of God and universal freedom and the
principle that all men and women,
regardless of creed, color or previous
condition of servitude, should have
an equal chance in the great contest
to live, move and have our being.

In the building of the monument
scores of loads of material will
have to be handled and the concrete
work now being done will come in
for a smashing, but it will be unavoidable and will have to be done
over again at an enormous expense,
and to make it conform to the grade
around the monument will be no
easy task. The Monument Commission should get out an injunction
and restrain the park board from
committing further depredations
until the monument is completed to the purpose for which it is intended
and endorsed by a large majority of
the veterans of Morgan county.

I repeat that the park board seems
to be trying to do all in its power
to impede the progress of the work
of building a shaft to commemorate
the heroic deeds of our citizen soldiers in the past, and in the contest
yet to come, in which many brave
boys must fall, in order that our government must not perish from
the earth. And "if this be treason
make the most of it."

Yours respectfully,
Veteran of '61-'65.

DR. POST HEARD IN SPLENDID ADDRESS

Baccalaureate Service for Illinois College Held Sunday at Congregational Church—"Law of Life" Was Theme

Sunday was truly a notable day in the history of Illinois college. The baccalaureate service in the morning and the beautiful vesper service on the campus in the evening was a fitting close to the eventful day. In the morning the faculty, trustees, alumni, seniors, students and friends of the college gathered at the Congregational church and took their seats to enjoy the services of the day which were of a noble and impressive order.

The procession was formed at the church doors and the order established was as follows:

President Charles H. Rammelkamp and guests of the college.

Members of the graduating class.

Members of the faculty of the different departments of the college.

Alumni and alumnae.

Students and former students of the college.

For the first time in many years Judge Edward P. Kirby, recently deceased, was not present to lead the procession of the alumni. His place as the oldest resident alumnus was taken this year by Dr. T. J. Pitner.

The order of the service was as follows:

Organ Voluntary.

Processional, March from Athalia (Mendelssohn)—Mrs. Helen Ayers Bullard.

Exordium, The Lord's Prayer and Gloria Patria, the congregation standing.

Anthem, "Unfold Ye Portals" (Gounod)—Special choir by pupils of Mrs. Wilson.

Scripture lessons read by President C. H. Rammelkamp.

Hymn, "Fight the Good Fight"—Choir and congregation.

Prayer—Rev. R. B. Wilson, pastor of State Street Presbyterian church.

Notices and announcements for College Week.

Offertory, anthem, "Forward March" (Shelley)—Special choir.

Offering for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. of the college.

Introduction of the speaker by President Rammelkamp.

Sermon by the Rev. Roswell O. Post, D. D.

Prayer by the Rev. A. B. Morey, D. D.

Hymn, "America"—Choir and congregation.

Benediction—Rev. R. B. Wilson.

Recessional—Mrs. Bullard.

The special choir was composed of the following students of the Illinois Conservatory of Music, all of whom are also pupils of Mrs. Genevieve Clark Wilson, who trained them for this service: The Misses Nellie Self, Dorothy Hite, Mabel Forrester, Loraine Dewese, Catherine Rapp and Fern Haigh; Edwin Gordon, Byron Carpenter, Robert Shumaker, Willard Wesner and Robert Boyd.

Mrs. Bullard played the organ with her usual fine ability.

In introducing Dr. R. O. Post, speaker of the occasion, Pres. Rammelkamp paid a tribute to him, emphasizing the high esteem in which he is held by the faculty and students of the college, his depth of thinking, his profound reasoning, his honest frankness, his superior judgment, one who has ever been regarded as a valued friend and adviser of the institution.

Dr. Post responded in a feeling manner remarking that it was truly a rare privilege to be thus regarded and to be permitted to address the graduating class on such an occasion and invoking the divine blessing on all both students and instructors. Of his excellent discourse only a few parts are offered.

The theme was "The Law of Life."

"As dying, and behold, we live," H. Cor. vi:9. The context reads: "In everything commending ourselves, as ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses, in stripes, in imprisonments, in labors, in watchings, in fastings, in purity, in knowledge, in long suffering, in kindness, in the Holy Spirit; in love unfeigned, in the word of truth, in the power of God; by the armor of righteousness on the right hand and on the left, by honor and dishonor, by evil report and good report; as deceivers, and yet true; as unknown and yet well known; as dying, and behold, and yet true; as unknown and yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things."—Vs. 4-10.

The Seeming and the Real

"As here the whole gamut of life's experience runs its course from the nadir deep up to its zenith, you may plainly see the distinction drawn between the seeming and the real, the transient and the permanent, the quantitative and the qualitative; and from the experiences of the two realms of the seen and the unseen, you may also see standing forth the victor soul, who has gotten life's satisfaction in great richness, and in the getting has enriched the world. Life, real life, permanent, qualitative, emergent from the seeming, the transient and the quantitative; and life if the only ultimate reality. Then how get it. How reach its zenith? Does the great Apostle maintain that life is gotten by experiencing all the distresses, affliction, stripes, imprisonments and the like; while forewearing all the pure joys, sweet amenities and wholesome pleasures, even all which give the charm, the zest, and the poetry of life? Assuredly no. There is no confusion of thought on the part of Paul but by the very contrast in experience, disclosing that law of life which runs unalterably thru the realms of matter, mind and spirit. Long years ago Aristotle observed that the destruction of one thing is the genesis of another; and in harmony is the strain of Tennyson's song,

"I held it truth, That men may rise on stepping stones of their dead selves to higher things."

Philosopher, poet, and Apostle, unite in the truth of our text, "As dying and behold we live."

To the happy, wholesome, life-loving youth, at first glance, this seems to be a gruesome theme; were death the end of all, such indeed it would be, and sad violence would be done this occasion where every word thruout the service should inspire to the highest endeavors of life. But "Death hath a thousand doors to let out life," and it shall be my passionate purpose to show you the door opening into the fullness of life, the only entrance into that kingdom where life is worth the living; for, after long and anxious gaze over the whole horizon of being, time reveals no open door into the realm of beauty, truth and love, save in the portal which we call death. If true, as truth seekers let us bravely face the fact and learn that the first step in obeying this law of life is first to die.

Toward attaining this desired end let us devote our best thought, and ask, What are those things to which we must die in order that we may truly live?

Die to the living for self-gratification.

Indulgence is the rampant besetting sin from the first conscious day to the last conscious breath. The desire to have the world bring you its toys or its treasures to amuse or support, to bask in the pleasures of the present moment at the cost of the coming hour; or, to get out of others all that you greedily can and give not to any a crust or a farthing, saying, "The world is my oyster, I will open and feed on its succulent meat, for what to me the cry of the human?" Indulgence must be ruthlessly slain or the door is closed upon life.

Thus dying, and behold, you live. Live to what? Live to the utter giving of self, for as you give you get, and in mathematical exactness, Jesus emptied Himself and seeing the travail of His soul was satisfied. To invest all your all in the common good is gaining the only principal which of a certainty makes rich the investor. Live for the quest of truth. In the seeking is the satisfaction, in discovering the immeasurableness are our boundaries correspondingly enlarged. A boundless realm, but every step within is soul amplifying, losing your little strutting exaggerated self as you begin to take on the robe of the infinite, unclad of the transient, clothed upon the permanent. No longer mere mortal man, but man immortal! Live for the love of liberty. Make it the passion of your souls and give to it the last full measure of devotion. Vain your dying indulgence of self, the limitations of environment, and the swathing bands of custom, if you come not forth into liberty. Here the clearest thinking is demanded, for the freedom of the individual is the freedom of all and the freedom of all is the freedom of the individual. Single sovereignty and social solidarity are interdependent, as neither can exist without the other. Liberty was never gained by solitary possession of a desert isle, neither by mad passion with a mob, rather liberty is the reciprocal recognition of individual and collective sovereignty, one for all and all for one. Caste nor class nor special privilege of any sort have place in your new world of freedom.

The World Today

Fellow students: My theme was fairly forced upon me by the condition of the world of today. A condition too horrible to be realized. Only a Miltonic imagination could sense the present day situation. Civilization reaching its crest with the dawn of the twentieth century has been hurled back into the abyss of pre-human chaos. This morning we open our windows and look out over what was e'en yesterday the fair face of the foot-stool of God, and lo, the fond home of that yesterday lies blighted, the flowering of the ages crushed under the mad wage of war; to all outward appearance, not only the arts, the letters and the realizations of science are helpless to save society, but Christianity itself has been weighed in the balance and found wanting—and all the unholy daughters of the Philistines rejoice. Aye, if my text be false, no ray of light penetrates the black pall of night which shrouds the whole habitable globe. Gross materialism, primal and ultimate cause of the insane conflict, with its dedication of men and money and might, will hurl back into the bottomless pit all the high standards of humanity, morality and religion. Mammon and Moloch will reign and light their altars to lust and greed and frivolity. But—if my text be true, true for nations as for individuals, hope revives and expectancy is awakened. This sad day is only the death and burial precedent to the glorious resurrection, a dying to class and caste and special privilege, a burial to crowns and thrones and hereditary distinctions, that therefrom may come the democracy of the Manger, the federation of nations, and the brotherhood of man. My text is true, for in the very midst of present tears and anguish of soul you may look up and out and over to where a new day is dawning, it is brightening in the far away east. Even now voices in all lands are joining in demanding the recognition of individual sovereignty and of the sovereign people; their right alone to determine the conduct of nations, their right to make this war a war upon war and to usher in the day of perpetual peace. Yes, the day is coming, surely coming, when the Prince of Peace shall reign from shore to shore and man to man shall brothers be.

Young ladies and young gentlemen of the graduating class:

This morning you stand on life's threshold and look out into the face of the saddest day the sun ever shone upon since they went up from Calvary. Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani, and there was a darkness over all the earth. I beseech you, look on today as the on—that yesterday which brought forth from the blackness of divine despair the whitest light of joy and peace that heaven could send to illumine the soul of man forevermore; out from the shades of light, from the sorrows, the joy, from the strife of man the peace of God. For again the world is on trial; civilization is at its crisis; all the hopes of the future hang in the balance; the great day of decision is here, with brave heart face it, life now as never before may be worth the living; into the gloom, rampant and universal, plunge; bury your all, reserve neither nerve, nor thought, nor heart-throb; with utter abandon make the dedicat-to the release of humanity from the bondage of sense to the freedom of soul, "God is in his heaven, it is for you, and all of kindred consecration, to make it "all right with the world." The opportunity of the ages opens; I bid you enter, enter to die, to die daily, enter to be buried, to be buried totally; and in the death and burial strive, strive, nightly, strive as an immortal, follow the aspirations of your soul, from the present body of death reach out and up, and on the morrow you will come forth in the full plenitude of the resurrection life to win and wear the deathless crown.

Lemons Do Whiten!

Try This on Face, Neck, Arms, Hands

The lemon juice massage indulged in once or twice each day means a little time and trouble, girls, but what of the splendid results? A skin bleached beautifully white, a complexion with the bloom of a peach, a softening of those lines of care; in fact, a skin eloquent of nature's purity and hands white, soft and full of charm.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore, irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When massaged daily into the face, neck, arms and hands it should naturally help to whiten, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

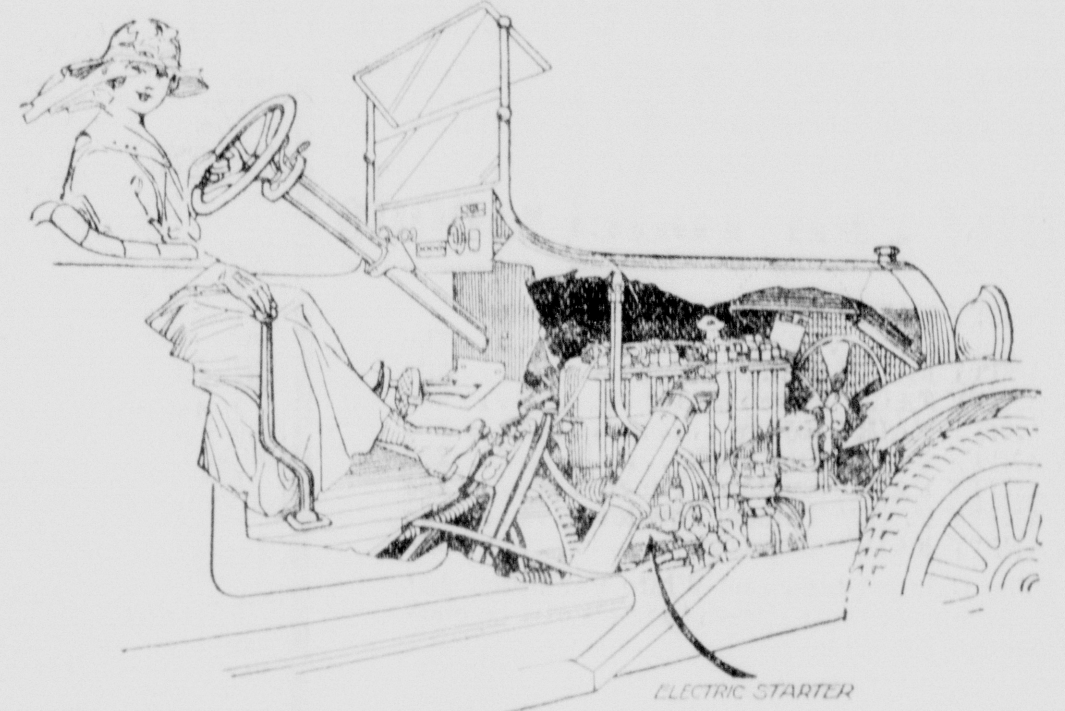

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.—Adv.

Oats, meadows and grass pastures are looking extra good since the warm weather has appeared for a few days. June the 3rd, at 7.30 p. m. the C. C.
